Naturalization Records

By Rhonda R. McClure, Genealogist

Introduction

Naturalization records are important resources for the family historian. They provide the immigrant's origins, age or birth date, and approximate arrival to the U.S. Learn what records exist, how to search them, and where to locate these essential resources.

HOW-TO GUIDES

Ohio Vital Records

What are vital records?

- Records pertaining to vital events – birth, marriage, and death
- Civil records – created by a government body (town, county, state) rather than a religious institution
- Key records for genealogists because they can be used to verify identity and connect one generation to another

Basics of Vital Records

- What a vital record looks like depends on time and place
- Earlier records typically contain less information, may be in a register/spreadsheet style rather than a certificate
- County-level births and deaths begin in 1867
 - Early records are incomplete
- State registration of births and deaths began in 1908
- County-level marriages begin at date of county formation (typically), state-level registration begun in 1949
- Marriage records issued by county probate courts

Basics of Vital Records

- Most Ohio vital record databases contain a variety of record types
- The date range given in the database title may be misleading, with only a few records from the earliest or latest dates given
- An easy way to find relevant collections is the FamilySearch Wiki page:
https://www.familysearch.org/en/wiki/Ohio_Vital_Records

Basics of Vital Records

- Index: most stripped-down, may contain only name, date, location, and reference to original (i.e. certificate number)
 - May be an image or a transcription
- Image or original: a copy of the complete register page or certificate
- Transcription: data abstracted from an original record, may or may not be complete

RETURN OF A BIRTH.
You are required by Ordinance to make out and return this Certificate to the Secretary of the Public Health Department on the first day of each and every month. Penalty for neglecting same to be any sum not exceeding Fifty Dollars Revised Ordinances Sec. 44.

To the Secretary of the Public Health Department

Name of child (if any has been given) Baby Austin
Maiden name of Mother Jennie Hakebert
Name of Mother at date of birth of child Mrs. Gilbert A. Austin
Nativity of Mother American Age 23 Color W
Full name of Father Gilbert A. Austin
Nativity of Father American Age 31 Color W
Signature of Medical attendant, or Midwife Dr. Samuel A. Young
Residence of same 426 2 E 71st St D. E.

Birth Records

- Typically begin in 1867
- Religious institutions may have records of births prior to that date, but those are not official birth records
 - For example, a birth date may appear in a church baptismal record
- Indexes on Ancestry.com, FamilySearch.org, and MyHeritage
- Images on FamilySearch.org: Ohio, County Births, 1841-2003
 - Some delayed and amended records included
 - Not all counties have all years

Early Birth Records

- Circa 1867-1907
- Most are register/spreadsheet style
- Not in perfect chronological order
- Many babies listed without a name
- Should contain full names of both parents

QUESTIONS?

Tax Records

Why use tax records?

- Substitute for: census, land, probate
 - Particularly true for pre-1820
- May survive for counties where many other records do not
- Put ancestor(s) at a certain time and place
- May shed light on ancestor's economic status, standing in community, and movements

History of Taxation in Ohio

- Taxation began in 1792 when Ohio was still a territory
- 1795 law allowed for election by ballot of a town tax assessor
- 1799 law redefines what can be taxed
- Early laws allowed for taxing of land based on soil quality – three rates for land – continues until the 1820s
- Various laws passed in the 1820s and 1830s change what can be taxed
- State constitution of 1851 introduces a uniformity to the tax system
- 1910 – Tax Commission created to centralize tax functions previously divided among various agencies and departments

Tax Record Basics

- Records produced yearly, typically at the county level
- List the names of property owners (real estate) and individuals with significant amounts of personal property
- Searchable database on Ancestry, FamilySearch, and AmericanAncestors.org: Ohio Tax Records, 1800-1850
- Tax records accessible through the FamilySearch.org catalog at the county level
- May be available in published form
- NOTE: Early Ohio land purchasers who obtained land from the federal government were exempt from taxes for five years.

County Probate Records

Why use probate records?

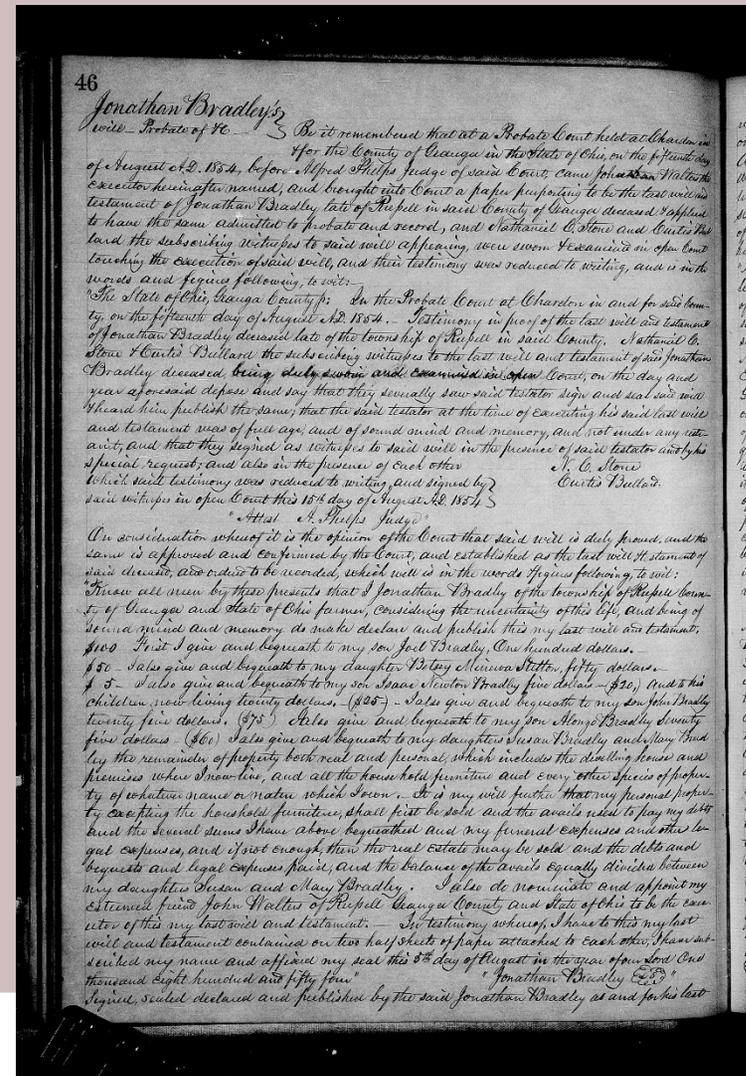

- Can be used as a death record substitute
- Can link together generations, often with explicit relationships (“my son,” “my beloved wife,” “my granddaughter, daughter of my deceased daughter...”)
- Contain descriptions of real and personal property

Basics of Probate Records

- Filed at the county level at the probate court
- Not just wills: also inventories, letters of administration, settlements, sale bills, etc.
 - May have one or many of these documents for an individual
 - Can be loose (as a file or packet, usually these are originals) or bound (into volumes, usually copies)
- A deceased individual does not necessarily have probate records
- Typically begin at the same date as the county

Basics of Probate Records

- On FamilySearch.org, organized in the catalog by county
 - Typically browse-only
 - Usually a separate index
- Searchable database on Ancestry.com: Ohio, U.S., Wills and Probate Records, 1786-1998

County Naturalizations

Naturalization: A Multi-Step Process

- Oversight of naturalization has changed but it has remained a multi-step process since 1790
- Declaration of Intent – could be filed after meeting residency requirement (typically 5 years, but changed a few times between 1790 and 1802)
- Petition – filed 2 to 3 years after declaration
- Oath of allegiance – sworn oath taken when citizenship was granted
- Certificate – given to the new citizen and not usually found in court records

Pre-1906 Naturalizations

- Took place at a variety of courts: county, superior, or common pleas courts; state and U.S. circuit and district courts; also municipal, police, criminal, chancery, probate, surrogate, and marine
- Paperwork was not standardized so files from different courts look different
- Different pieces of paperwork could be filed at different court or in different counties
- Not many details about the immigrant collected

Published Histories and Genealogies

Why use published history books?

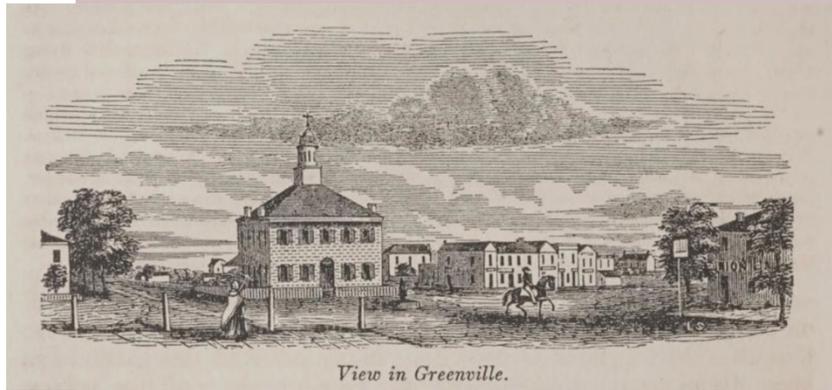

- Provide context and develop a better understanding of a place and time
- Learn about migration patterns, important dates, boundary changes, and more
- Discover information about church formation and membership

Early histories

- Many town/county/state histories published in the 19th century and early 20th century

one of the most industrious and enterprising farmers of the place.

Josiah Pettibone, with his only son, Rufus, and a daughter, emigrated from Norfolk, Connecticut, to Portage county, Ohio, and from thence to Bainbridge, where they settled in the summer of 1832, on the farm now occupied by Rufus and his son, Henry W. Mr. Pettibone, sr., resided on the farm till his death, which occurred in 1852, at which time he was seventy years of age. He was a man of strict integrity, and a worthy member of the Congregational church. In 1833 Rufus Pettibone was married to Betsy Dutton, of Auburn. They have a son and two daughters. An amiable and accomplished daughter died at twenty-two, and a son and daughter in infancy.

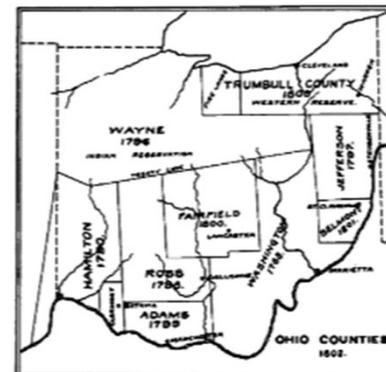

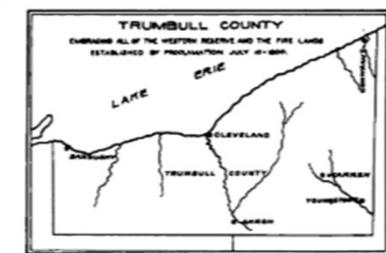

In 1831, Seymour Niece, a stone mason by trade, settled near Eggleston's mills. In 1832 or '33, he removed to the northwestern part of the town. Mr. Niece had a family of twelve sons and one daughter, viz.: Myron, William C., Charles, Nathaniel, Seymour, Oscar, Sarah, Lafayette, John B., Henry, Franklin, and two whose names we cannot now recall. Nearly all of the family were school teachers, and several were among the most efficient in the county. Nine of them were teaching at the same time sufficiently near home to enable them to meet there at the close of each week. William C., who was one of the prominent men of the place, died in 1877. He left five sons and as many daughters; most of them reside in Bainbridge.

Ohio Family History Research 2024

Thank you for registering for the online course, Ohio Family History Research!

Throughout its history as a territory and state, Ohio has long been a destination for people migrating for new opportunities, from early fur traders and homesteaders to African Americans travelling in the Great Migration of the 20th century. This four-part online seminar will provide an overview of the records, resources, repositories, and strategies for exploring your Ohio roots. We will also discuss the historical context that shaped the records available for your Ohio ancestors. Whether Ohio was a final destination for your ancestor or a stop along their journey west, join us for this deep-dive into family history research for the Buckeye State.

This course includes four 90-minute classes and exclusive access to handouts and recordings of each presentation. These recordings and all course materials will be available for the foreseeable future.
