

Samantha Brown Visits American Ancestors

Opened in 1845 and housing eight stories of material, the American Ancestors/New England Historic Genealogical Society has been helping Americans trace their lineage for over 176 years. As one of the largest and most comprehensive of its kind, the NEHGS specializes in a massive range of genealogies from British to African to Chinese and Jewish ancestry. You won't believe what Samantha found out about her own family tree during her visit!