General Considerations

- You may not find one “smoking-gun” record
- You may need to rely on several records to build a case
- Some records may be less reliable than others
- “A” may lead to “B,” which might lead to “C” and then back to “A” (or more)
- May have working several working theories

Tip
Stay organized!

Using Onomastic Evidence

Onomastic Evidence

- Some cultures may have defined naming patterns, while others may be less rigid
- Surnames as first names or less common first names can be clues of earlier kinships and origins
- Can be circumstantial evidence, but can be a starting point or provide a working theory

Jonathan Pinney of Plymouth, VT

- Was he really born in England?
- Evaluate names from wife's family
- Disregard very common names (usually)
- Had sons John and Jonathan
- Sons Solomon, Amial, and "Deline"

Naming patterns are not always a guarantee of kinship.

Challenge:
Determining maternity when a father has two wives

Challenges

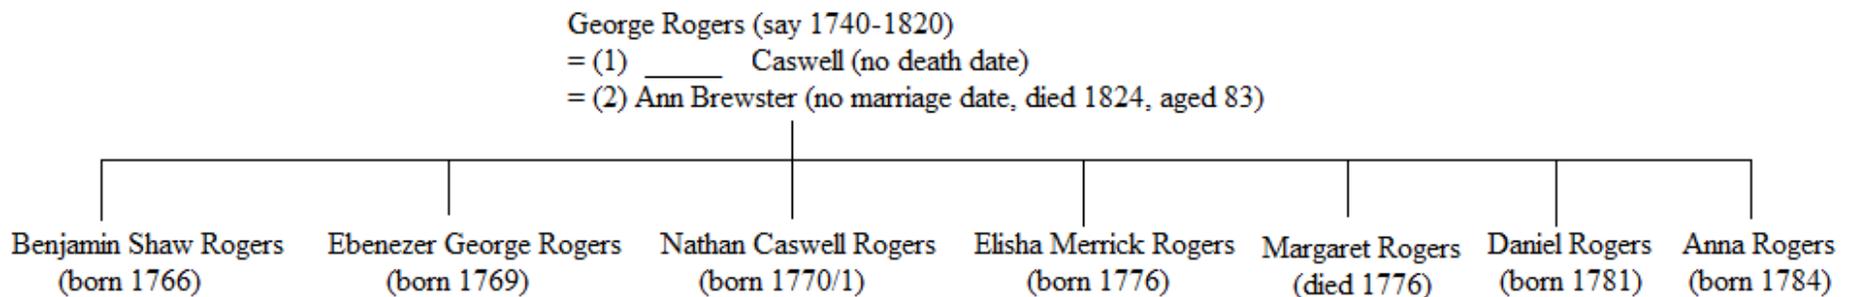

- Sometimes a man may be married to two women with the same first name, two sisters, or even (rarely) women who have the same full name!
- Researching a complete timeline with probate, land records, military, pensions, or any possible record
- Following leads on family members of male subject and both of his wives

Land Records and naming patterns

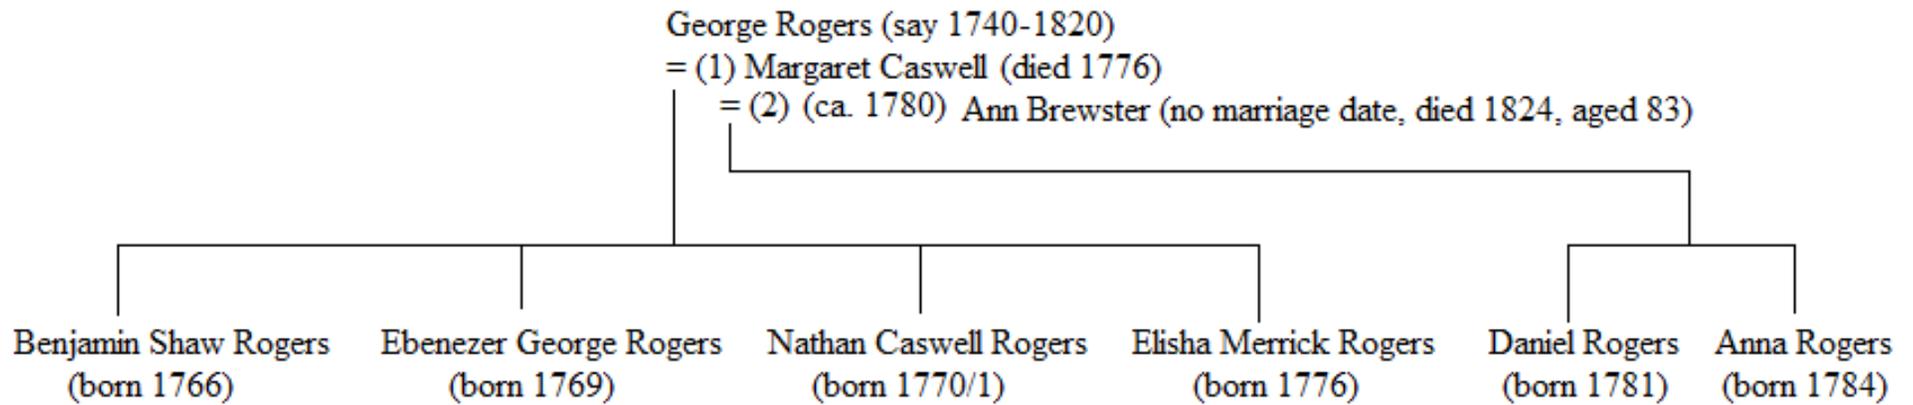

Key Documents

- Probate Record of Ann Brewster's brother Daniel Brewster in 1779 lists sister Ann as still single
- Lebanon Land Records, 1781, "George and Ann Rogers," sell land to Elijah Hyde, Jr.
- 1776 Death date of Margaret: sibling or mother?

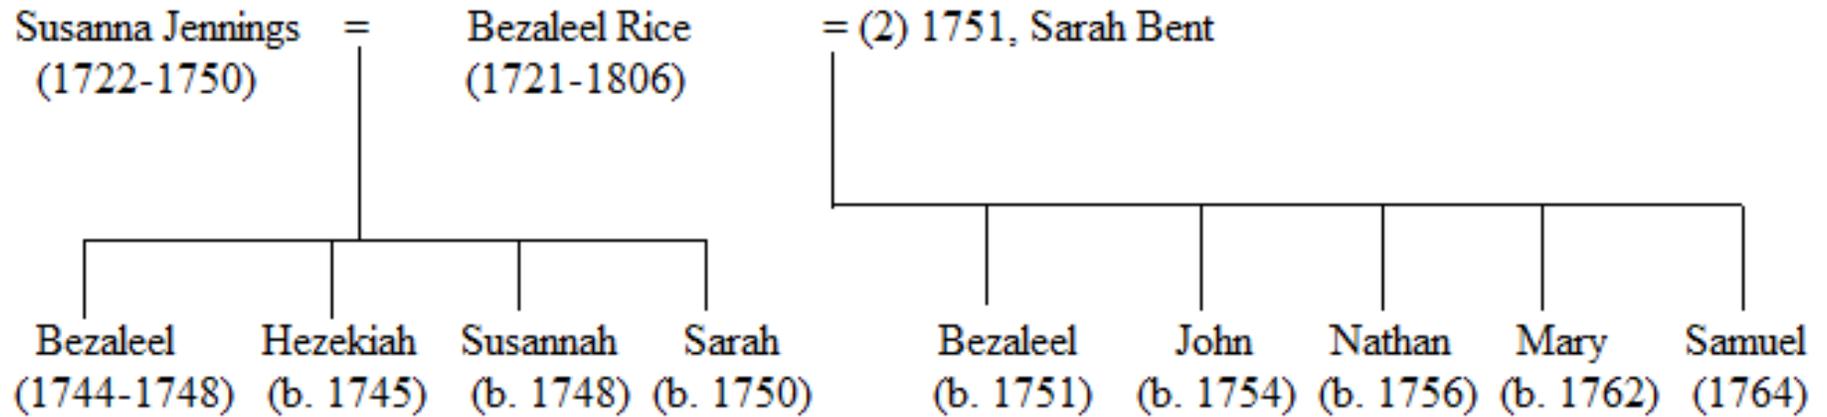

Arranging the two mothers

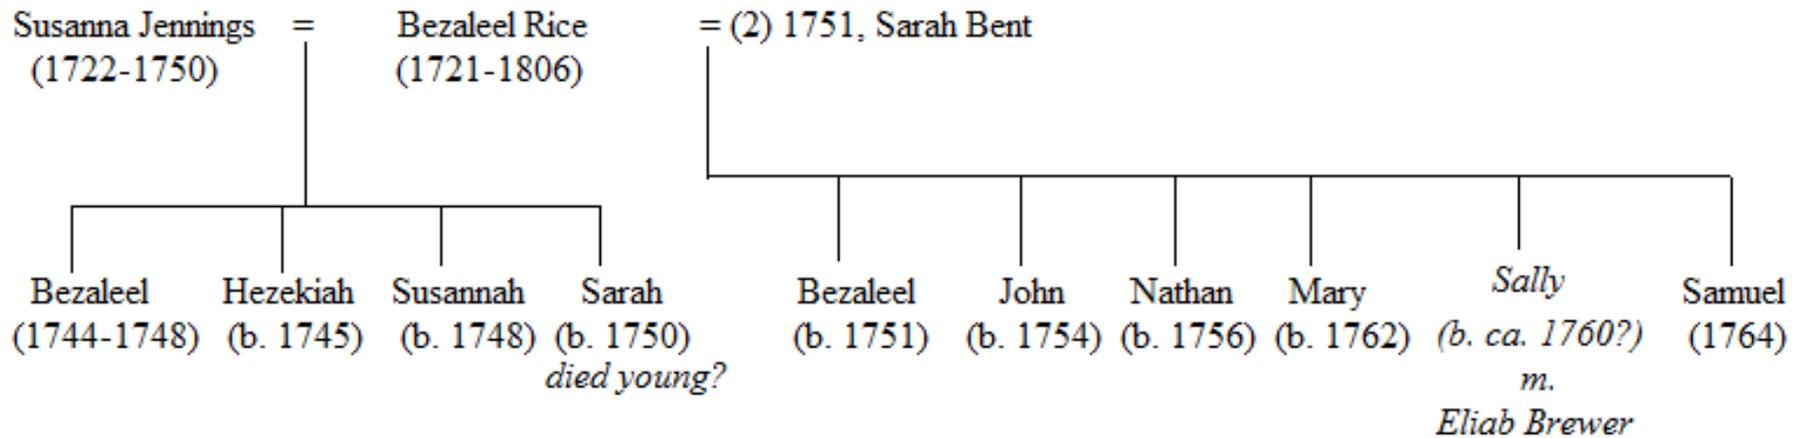

Sally (Rice) Brewer

- Sally Rice married Eliab Brewer in 1782
- Died in 1835, aged 74 (thus born ca. 1760)
- Stated in Rice genealogy as likely the daughter of Bezaleel Rice and his first wife Susanna Jennings
- Bezaleel Rice's 1801 will names a daughter Sarah Brewer
- Bezaleel's recorded daughter Sarah was born 1750

Children by different fathers

Tip
Think of kinships in a very broad sense.

“my father in law Mr. Jervis”

- Will of Thomas Bright of Bury St. Edmunds, Suffolk [grandfather of Henry Bright of Mass.]
- Will written 20 August 1587
- Names wife Margaret
- Names several sons, daughters with their spouses
- Eldest son's son; godson (nephew)
- “father in law Mr. Jervis, of Whepstead, supervisor”

How can Mr. Jervis be Thomas Bright's father-in-law?

- Current wife's father
- Earlier wife's father
- Step-father
- Current wife's step-father
- Earlier wife's step-father
- Later husband of step-mother
- Later husband of current wife's step-mother
- Later husband of earlier wife's step-mother

“my father in law Mr. Jervis”

- Chancery proceeding of 1588 identified Margaret Bright as a daughter of William Payton, late of Risby, and all of William’s children were by his only wife Johan, who survived him
- Thomas Bright had only wife and his step-mother outlived Thomas’s father
- Mr. Jervis is perhaps a later husband of Thomas’s step-mother or a later husband of Thomas’s mother-in-law

Incidental relatives

- William Payton's will of 1556 names a brother-in-law John Webbe of Risby
- John Webb of Risby, will dated 1586, names Mr. Jervis of Whepstead, his brother-in-law
- As Margaret (Payton) Bright's father William Payton called John Webb his brother-in-law, who in turn called Mr. Jervis his brother-in-law, since Mr. Jervis was Thomas Bright's father-in-law, then William Payton and Mr. Jervis are married to the same woman, Johan (_____ or Webb) (Payton) Jervis

Walter Bright, will 1550

= (1) _____

= (2) Margaret Elwolde

William Payton of Risby, will 1556

= Johan _____, who m. (2) Robert Jervis

Thomas Bright, will 1587 = Margaret Payton

Tip
Sister, Brother, etc. may not mean any kinship!

Challenge:
Separating people of the same name in the same community

Common families, common problems

- Even when records are abundant, kinship linkages may be problematic
- Records in colonial period and early nineteenth century are often not as detailed as we want
- Try to get additional records when a family name may be too common to rely on a vital record alone

CAPT. BENJAMIN CHILD^{3*}

(Benjamin^{2,1}) of Woodstock, b. Roxbury July 19, 1685, d. July 25, 1771, age 86, m. Sept. 1712 Patience Thayer of Mendon, d. Mar. 15, 1764. Capt. Benjamin³ is buried East Woodstock Yard with son Benjamin⁴ and the latter's wife Patience. The Benjamin Child house in the village of East Woodstock, opposite the Fowler place, was known later as the Bacon house and was used as the meeting house until the church in East Woodstock was built. It became the home of Nathan E. Morse † and was a structure of two stories with heavy window caps, one of which was over the front door. The house was torn down.

Woodstock Apr. 5, 1805 in 81st yr., daughter of John Child, Jr., and Abigail Aspinwall. The Birthday Reflections of Deacon Morse, written in 1810 on his 84th birthday, state that at the first Freeman's meeting, Sept. 12, 1749, held after Woodstock had changed from the jurisdiction of Massachusetts to that of Connecticut, Deacon Morse and seventy-three others took the Freeman's oath. He was Surveyor of Highways for six years, Lister for seven years, Constable three years, Collector of Excise two years, Selectman eighteen years, member of thirty-one assemblies of the State Legislature, Town Clerk twenty-seven years and six months. He recorded 2,756 deeds, leases, and executions, 1,804 births, 377 marriages, besides all town votes and other proceedings in Town and Freeman's meetings that were matters of public record, all of which was done without any compensation or reward. He was Clerk and Treasurer of the Church on the Hill twenty years and on the Church Committee for fifteen years. For twenty-five years he was one of the Committee of the South Proprietors of Woodstock and Proprietors' Clerk for seven years. He was Justice of the Peace for Windham County for twenty-seven years. For fifty-six years he was a Deacon of the First Church. Deacon Morse was described as a man strong in body and mind, an able and upright magistrate, and an honored and useful member and officer of the Church.

Thompson Congregational Church

Town incorporated 1785, having been previously a part of Killingly which dates back to 1708.

The Congregational Church of Thompson was organized in 1730, in what was then the North Society of Killingly and named "Thompson Parish" in honor of a non-resident English proprietor, Sir Robert Thompson, a distinguished nobleman, the first president of the "Society for the Propagation of the Gospel in Foreign Parts."

Rev. Marston Cabot, the first pastor, begins the marriage record in 1730.

No probate, but a land distribution

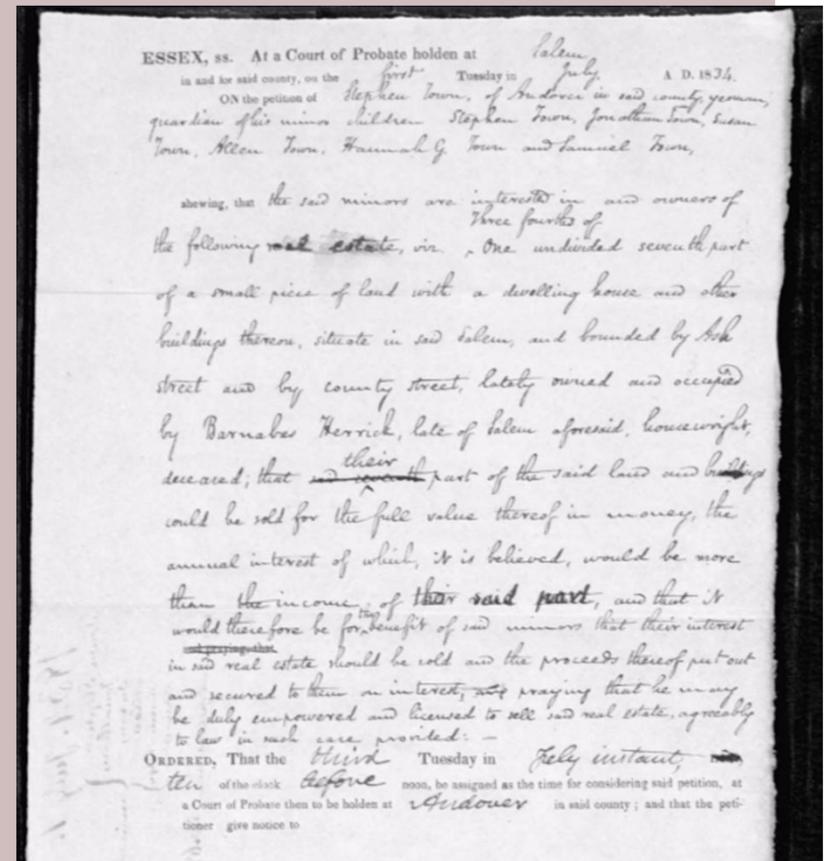

Tip

You can have a documented birth, marriage, and death date and the lineage can be wrong; the reverse can also be true.

Six Towne siblings of Salem, 1834

- No records of their birth
- Stephen Towne [father] is appointed guardian of the children to take custody of the estate they are in to inherit “in right of their deceased mother”
- 1/6 of 1/7 of Land of Barnabas Herrick

Four Generations, Missed in VRs

Barnabas Herrick (1738-1832)

left a particular piece of real estate to the heirs of his deceased son Jonathan

Jonathan Herrick (ca. 1763-1803)

Betsey Herrick (died before 1834)

m. Salem 1811 Stephen Towne

(marriage is only known record of Betsey)

6 known surviving children

Stephen, Jonathan, Susan, Allen, Hannah G., Samuel (minors in 1834)

all due to inherit 1/6 of 1/7 of land provided "in right of their deceased mother" of Barnabas Herrick

Case Study: DNA Study

Basics of mtDNA

- mtDNA is inherited from a person's mother
- Matrilineal-related people (even several generations back) share the same mtDNA markers
- People who do not share the same markers are not matrilineally related within recorded history (a few centuries)
- For this problem: three people were solicited and existing descendants had already participated

Esther Dyer of Braintree, Vermont

- Born Vermont, about 1790
- Married Braintree, Vermont, 1814, George Flanders, and moved to New York
- In later censuses, Esther lived with Tarrant Dyer, a grandson of Ichabod Dyer, Sr. of Braintree, Vermont
- Based on the 1800 censuses, Esther could be a daughter of Ichabod Dyer, Jr., or his eldest son Ichabod Dyer, Jr.

Which family does Esther belong to?

Ichabod Dyer, Sr. (1745-1828)
= Mary Jones (1746-1820)

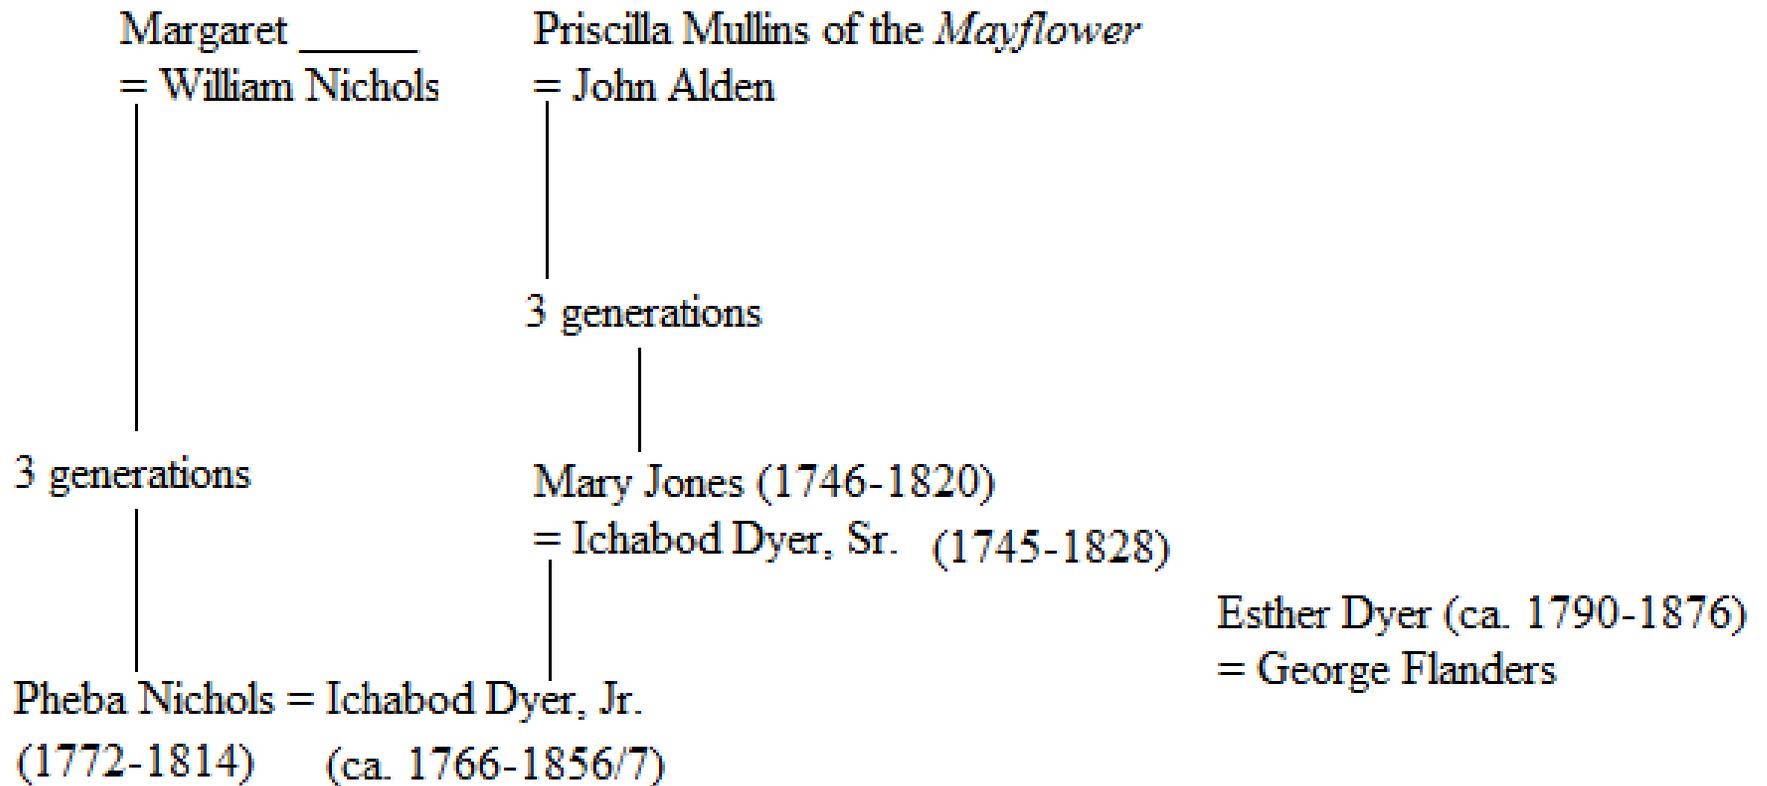

Ichabod Dyer, Jr. (ca. 1766-1856/7)
= Pheba Nichols (1772-1814)

Samel Dyer (1774-bef. 1870)
= Betsey Gleason (ca. 1783-bef. 1865)

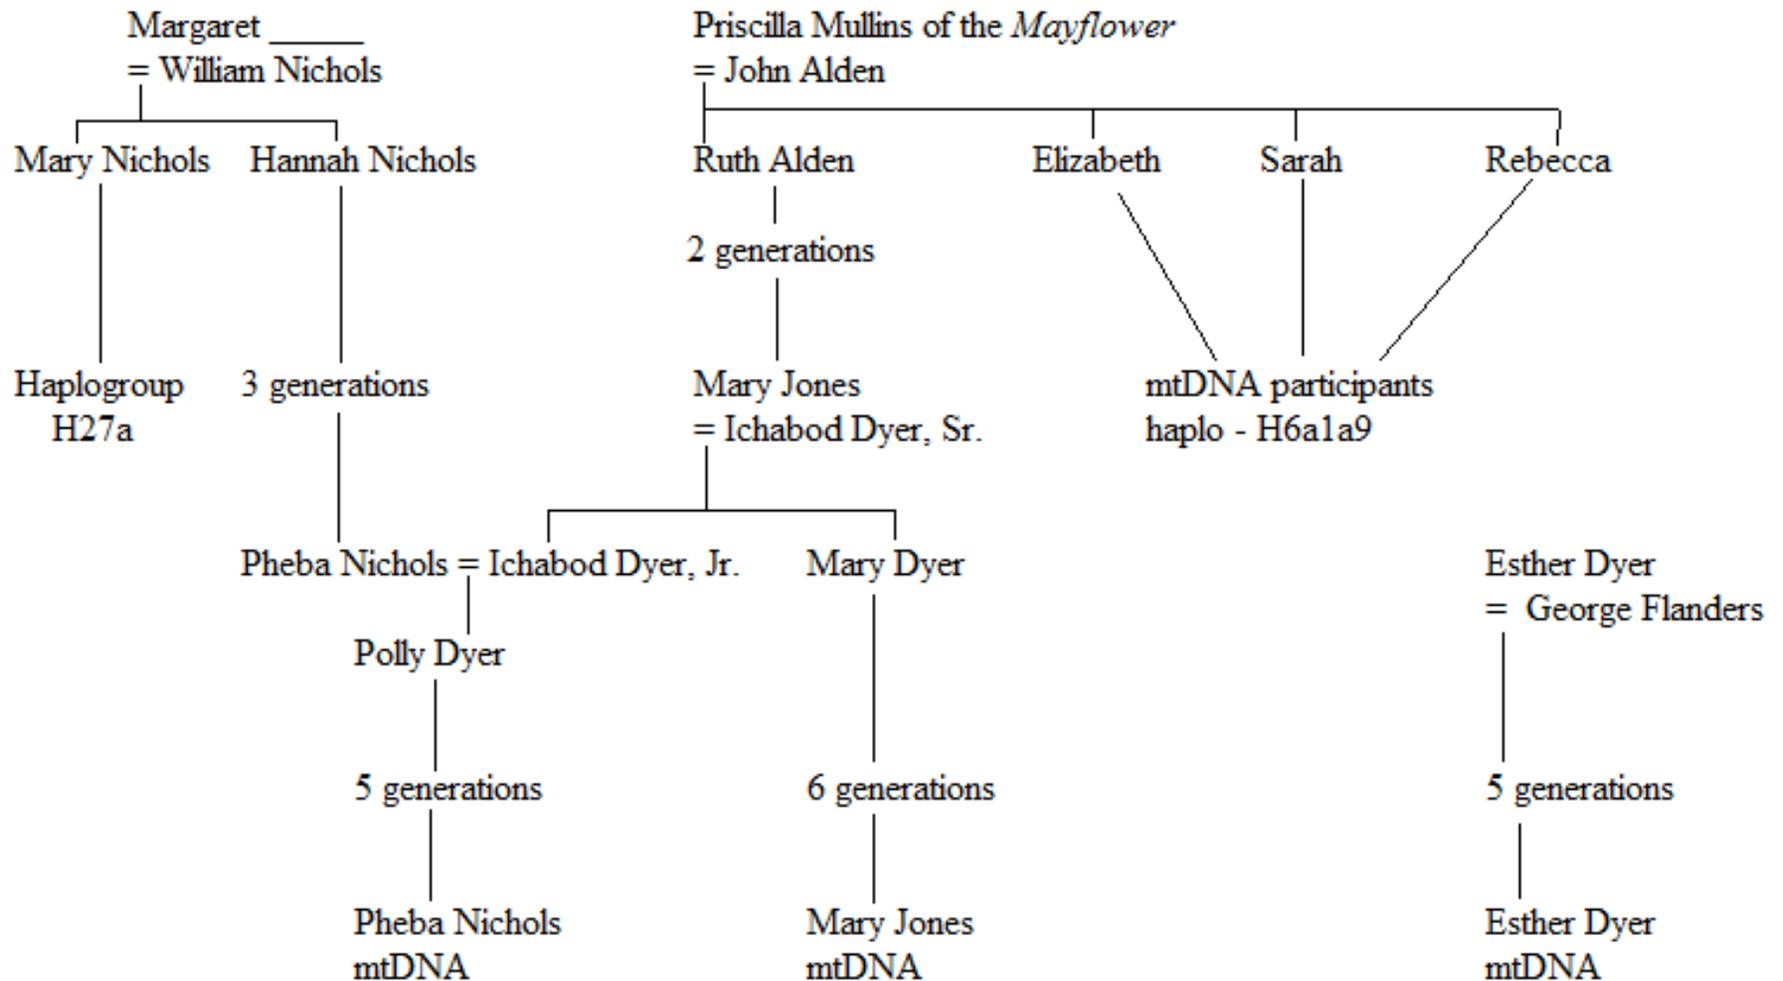

Tarrant King Dyer (1799-1881)

Esther Dyer (ca. 1790-1876)
= George Flanders

Matrilineal descendants

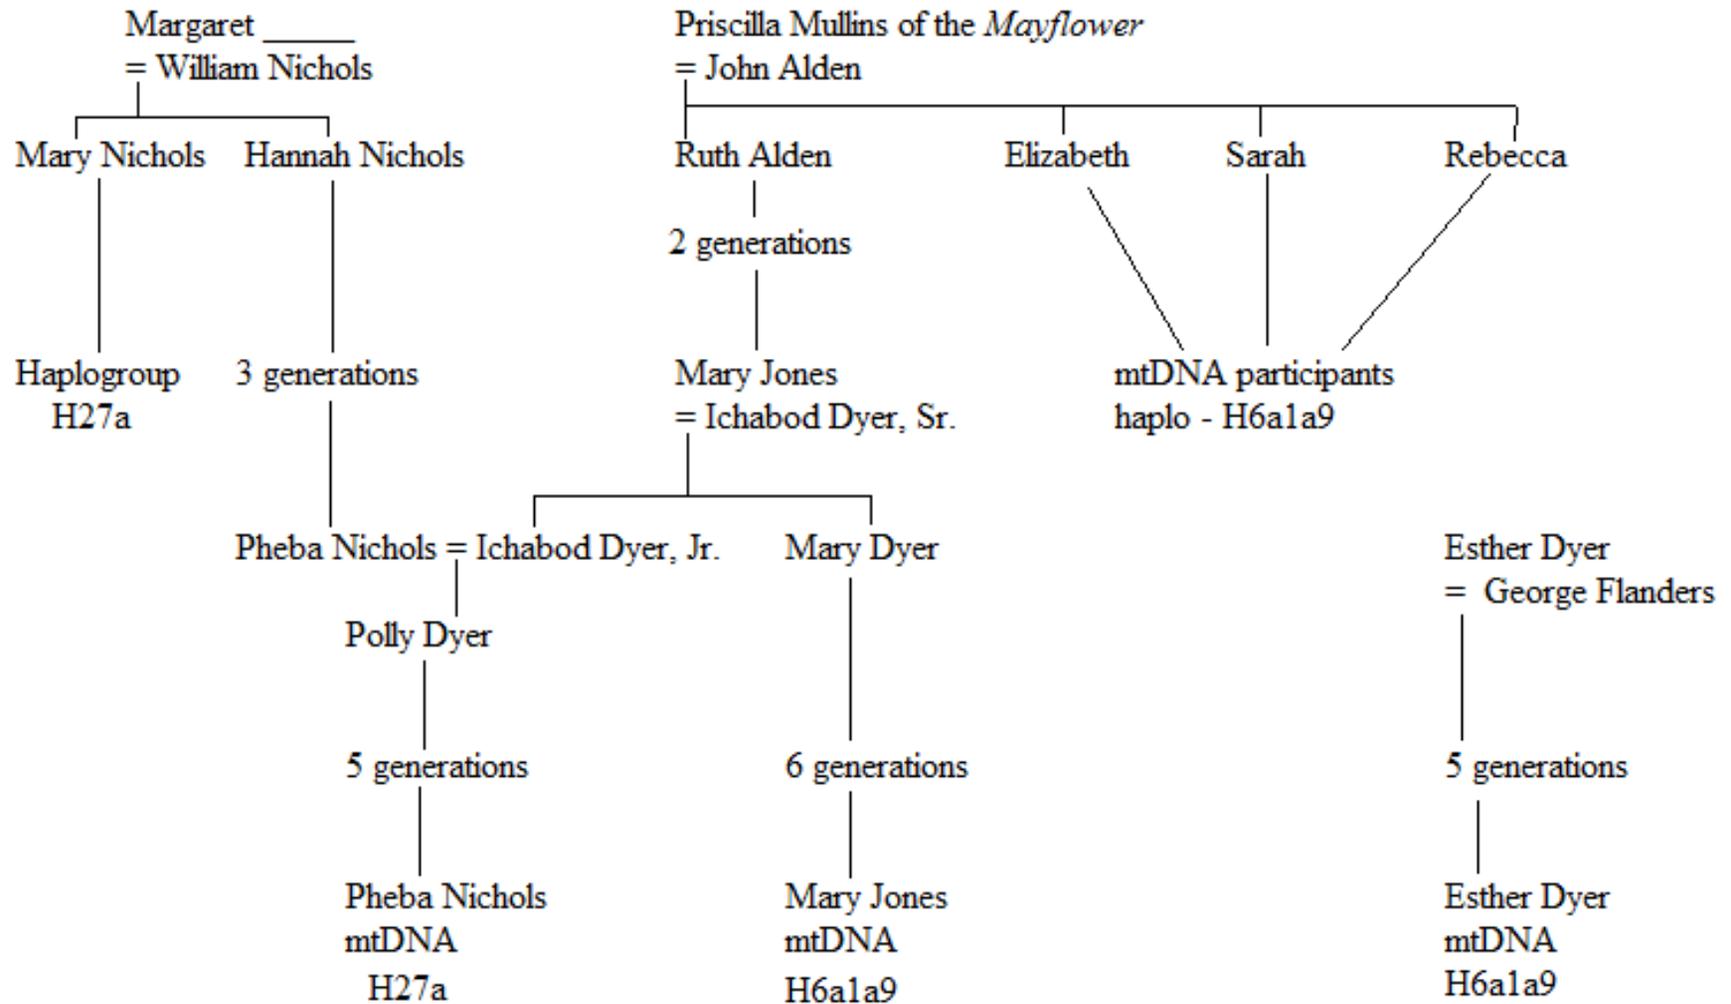

Matrilineal descendants

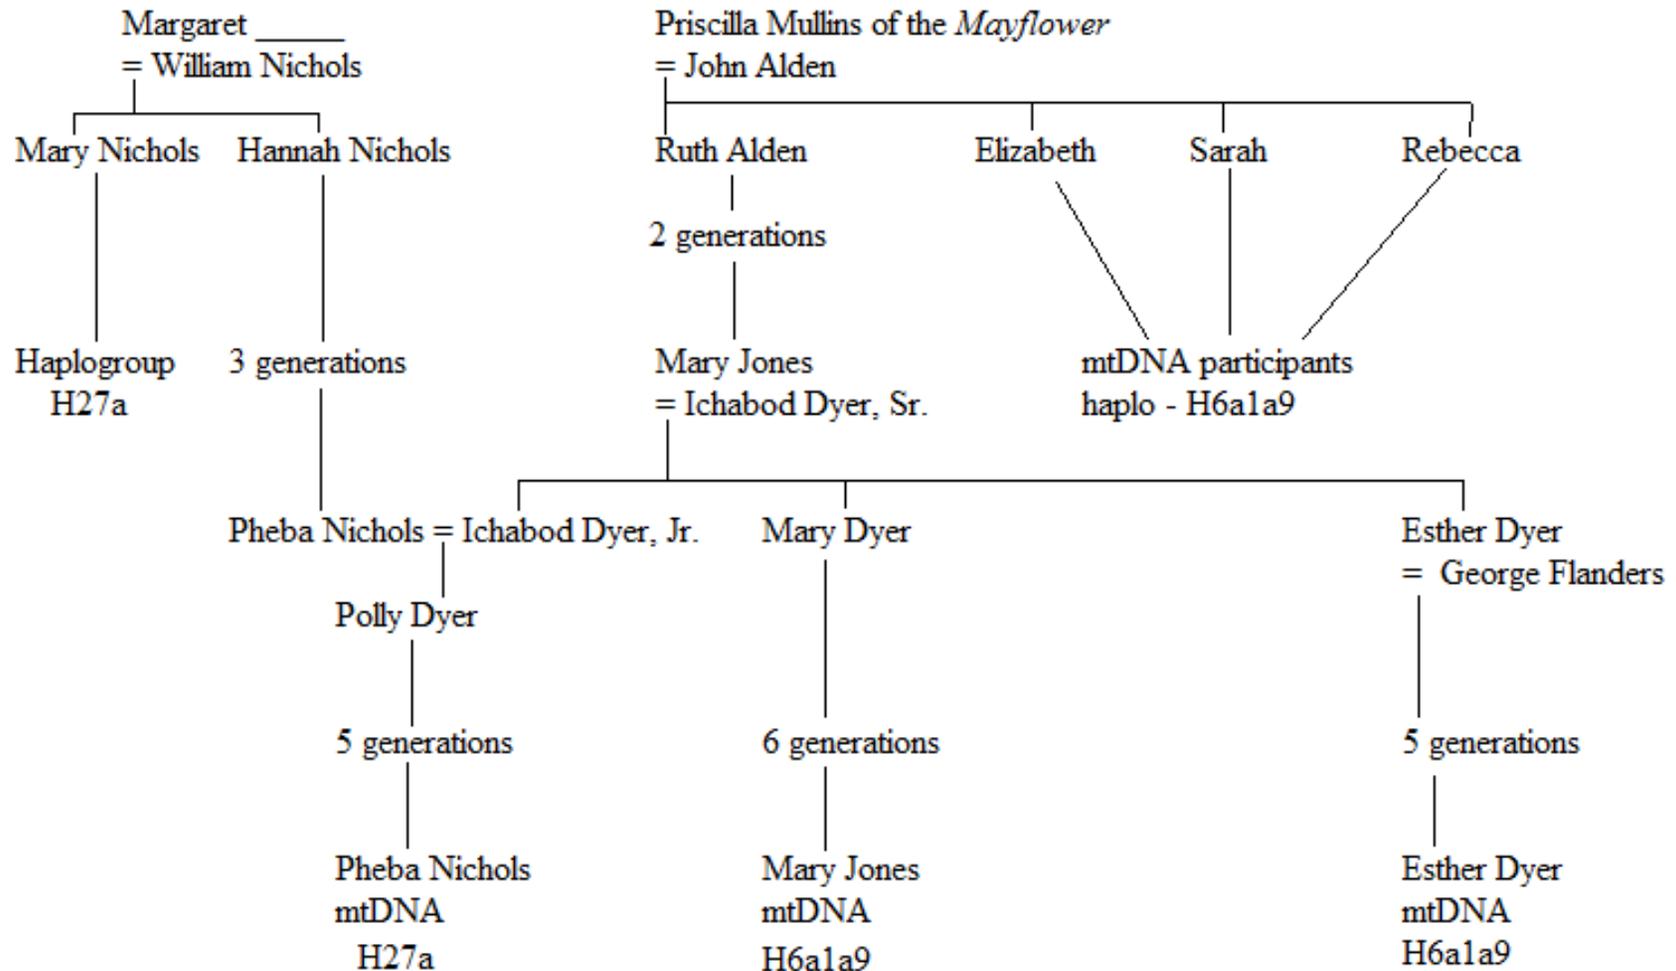

Expected Conclusions

- Matrilineal descendants of Phebe Nichols should match descendants of Margaret (_____) Nichols
- Matrilineal descendants of Mary Jones should match descendants of Priscilla Mullins
- Matrilineal descendants of Esther Dyer should match one of these two groups
- If Esther's descendants match the Nichols bunch, she was a daughter of Phebe Nichols and Ichabod Dyer, Jr.
- If Esther's descendants match the Mullins/Alden bunch, she was a daughter of Mary Jones & Ichabod Dyer, Sr.

Results!

Esther Dyer is a daughter of Ichabod Dyer, Sr. and Molly Jones

When to “Give Up”?

When to give up . . .

- You've searched all available records—published and original
- Broadened scope to look at other relatives, inlaws, friends, and neighbors
- With trial and error, existing theories cannot be confirmed or refuted

... but never give up hope!

- More and more records are being indexed and digitized everyday
- Follow scholarly journals and database updates
- Your solution could be in a collection not yet considered by your research

THANK YOU!
