John Kavanagh immigrated to Massachusetts from Nova Scotia on 22 May 1888. His wife, Marie Dion, arrived before their wedding in 1900. Both families had been in Nova Scotia and Acadia for many generations.

Kavanagh

The earliest known Kavanagh, Charles, lived in Tricadie, Antigonish, Nova Scotia, Canada by 1827.

Benoit

The Benoit line could be traced back to Port Royal, Acadia in the latter half of the 17th century.

Dion

The earliest known ancestors for the Dion family wed in Perche, France before coming to Quebec, Canada in the mid-1600s.

Cartier

Guillaume Cartier, whose descendant married into the Dion family, left Drain, Nantes, France for Neuville, Portneuf, Quebec, Canada and arrived on 1 November 1684.

Michael Quinn and Mary Killian left Glasgow, Lanarkshire, Scotland on the S.S. Australia and arrived in New York, New York on 22 May 1871.

Quinn

Before moving to Scotland, the Quinn family was from Mullaghglass, County Armagh, Ireland.

Killian

Mary Killian's parents, wed in County Louth, Ireland, before emigrating with her in 1871.

Daley

Maurice and Catherine (Shannahan) Daley brought their family on the S.S. Scythia which arrived in Boston, Suffolk County, Massachusetts, 27 August 1886.

Shannahan

Shannahan families had ties to the areas in and around Stradbally, County Waterford, Ireland.
