Connecting Families.

The desire to understand and connect to our family history is universal. This understanding represents who we are and how we came to live the lives we each have. Whether we are fully aware of it or not, the journeys our ancestors took and the choices they made have a profound effect on who we are today. Good fortune and bad, triumph and tragedy, prosperity and opportunity all comprise the incredible, winding path that leads from our ancestors to each of us. And while our stories may seem unique to us, we learn that they are also shared by many.

At American Ancestors and New England Historic Genealogical Society, we understand that as we uncover our families, we learn about history too. The records we use, the sources we uncover, the information we gather, all need to be maintained and preserved. It is our mission to make sure everyone, everywhere, has access to their family’s story for generations to come.

Advancing History.
During the fiscal year ending August 31, 2018, we achieved historic results. We met or exceeded ambitious goals across all areas of the organization by educating, inspiring, and connecting hundreds of thousands of members and guests through our genealogical and historical scholarship, collections, and expertise. We significantly advanced our mission across each of our strategic plan goals of creating a sustainable financial future, building relationships to ensure our constituents identify as members of the American Ancestors and New England Historic Genealogical Society family, affirming our position as a center of scholarly excellence, and maximizing the use of technology to connect with constituents. We extended Strategic Plan 5 to fulfill the most important goal of its vision statement: the execution of our Cornerstone Project headquarters expansion. This project, when completed, will provide a better, richer visitor experience and urgently-needed office and programmatic space for our staff and constituents. Concurrently, we developed and refined strategies for a Cornerstone Campaign to fund this expansion and the early results of this effort are gratifying. Finally, we amended our Cornerstone Objectives to stretch us in new areas, namely in expansion—in business and our growing physical plant; engagement—primarily through exhibitions and public activities; and science—principally through deeper involvement in interpreting advances in DNA and genetics to genealogical and general audiences.
Among those areas of most accomplishment in the fiscal year were:

EXPANSION AND SUSTAINABILITY

Expand our headquarters and grow operations with scalable business and philanthropic models to ensure financial sustainability

Our headquarters expansion—the Cornerstone Project—will be an important economic engine for our institution as we create a national visitor destination. This process will include building construction and renovations, retail business development, commercial partnerships, museum design implementation, visitor experience modeling, and public branding. To ensure our success, it will be critical to build earned revenue sources, philanthropy, and endowment funds each year.

Philanthropically and operationally, in fiscal year 2018 we achieved phenomenal results that further bolstered our sustainable financial future. Total contributed income topped $5.6 million, including a $1.25 million commitment from author Tabitha King to support our Cornerstone Project. After the close of the fiscal year, we received two more major commitments, also supporting our Cornerstone Campaign: an anonymous $1.3 million gift for the new Center for Scholarly Publishing at 97 Newbury Street, which will be named in honor of Great Migration scholar Robert Charles Anderson, and a $1.5 million gift from Nordahl and Suzanne Brue for an expanded Learning Center that will be named after them. These gifts, in combination with an earlier $3 million commitment and other pledges, place our Cornerstone Campaign total at more than $7 million as of April 1, 2019. The timely Cornerstone gift from the Kings coincided with our successful negotiation to terminate the lease at 97 Newbury Street held by John Lewis, who operated a retail jewelry business there since the 1970s. Mr. Lewis vacated the premises on December 31, 2018. This development allows for our occupancy of the space four years ahead of schedule and will help alleviate considerable overcrowding at 99-101 Newbury Street. In consultation with the firm of Schwartz/Silver, we developed a master plan for our construction and renovation project. 97 Newbury Street will be used for office and meeting space until Cornerstone Project renovations take place in 2020–2021. This change of occupancy now enables us to petition the city of Boston to make this building part of our tax-exempt campus in the Back Bay. In this period, we also deepened our partnerships with FamilySearch and others to develop new features, facilities, and content for our expanded headquarters, in particular a state-of-the-art Discovery Center and an expanded retail experience with food service.

On an operating basis, we exceeded our income goals, kept expenses below budget, and concluded the year with our best bottom-line position and operating cash position in a decade. Sales, research services, programmatic income, online education fees, and consultative services all contributed positively to our bottom line. The cumulative effect of our extraordinary philanthropic support, careful stewardship of our operating funds, and prudent investment management is that we achieved our highest investment portfolio value in the organization’s history at $33.4 million as of the end of the fiscal year.

ENGAGEMENT

Develop and implement enriching opportunities for members and the public to engage in inspirational experiences

We will transform the organization into an experiential cultural institution of national importance that provides diverse audiences with relevant engagement, including educational programs, interpretive and interactive exhibitions, museum attractions, heritage tours, and other personal experiences that enrich lives, preserve legacies, and more fully communicate the power and importance of family history. We will challenge ourselves to recast our offerings as going beyond lineage research to be multifaceted and broadly inclusive of historical narrative and cultural context.

Our newest Cornerstone Goal has achieved considerable success in a short time as we find ways to more deeply engage our audiences. A new activity area was formalized when our Jewish Heritage Center was officially launched at a black-tie gala at the Taj Hotel and named in honor of its beloved, longtime supporters Justin “Jerry” and Genevieve Wyner and their family. At this event, our new director of the center, Rachel King, formerly of the Jewish Women’s Archive, was introduced and set her vision for the future of the Center. Online education blossomed during the year and reached thousands of constituents and new users. Elsewhere, a program of formalized exhibitions with online extensions commenced and supported topics ranging from the centenary of World War I, to mourning art in genealogy, to Wampanoag history (“Our” Story: 400 Years of Wampanoag History) and the Mayflower legacy. In addition, a large-scale model of the Mayflower and a Wampanoag-made history sculpture were commissioned through a generous member gift. They are prominently displayed in our front courtyard on Newbury Street to stimulate interest in our organization, the history of the Wampanoag Nation, and the Mayflower 400th anniversary commemorations. Our domestic and overseas tours proved to be exceptionally popular and we hosted major benefit dinners in honor of popular authors David McCullough; William M. Fowler, Jr.; and Winston Groom. Other signature events included an American book launch for the Duke of Rutland and Emma Ellis, a festive evening with chef Barbara Lynch, a luncheon hosted by Board Chairman Nancy Sands Maulsby at the Colony Club in New York for Curt DiCamillo travelers, and a 30th anniversary dinner celebration for the Great Migration Study Project and Robert Charles Anderson. We hosted a reception for the Social Register Association for more than 140 guests at our headquarters on the first-ever visit of that prestigious institution to Boston. Our 2019 Annual Meeting events include a Family History Benefit Dinner with newsman Dan Rather, Ancestry CEO Margo Georgiadis, and Society of the Cincinnati President General Jonathan Tufts Woods, as well as a joint event with the French Heritage Society, featuring Baron Hubert de Vinols. Finally, Margaret Talcott joined our staff as Director of Signature and Literary Events, a new role which helps support our many high-profile events and advance our engagement goals.

RELATIONSHIPS

Ensure that our members and the public identify with and connect to the American Ancestors and NEHGS community

We will strive to connect with our members and the public in personally meaningful ways, serving as respected expert genealogists and historians that care deeply about helping people. Possessing broad expertise and resources, generously sharing both, we will continue to be indispensable to both family historians and peer organizations. We will be infused with an innovative spirit and vibrant energy to be helpful, engaging, and inspiring to people everywhere who seek to connect with their past. We will align our programs, messages, and customer service so that our members and the public identify more deeply with the institution and are offered numerous opportunities to make meaningful and inspiring connections.

With a high-level of engagement through programs, service, and best-in-class research materials, we continued to build and strengthen our relationships to ensure that each constituent identifies as a member of the American Ancestors and NEHGS family history community, now numbering more than 260,000 individuals. Our total constituency continued to grow year-over-year in both our dues-paying categories and our guest-member categories. Over the year, we welcomed thousands of new members, and our retention rate remained strikingly high at nearly 90%. Among our existing constituents, we worked to forge lasting bonds through nearly two hundred programs and events, serving more than 20,000 individuals. Our library and archives continued to do good work in assisting visitors and creating more opportunities for paid tutorials, consultations—both in person or through remote access, and sharing our staff’s genealogical and historical expertise in relationship-building ways.

SCIENCE AND TECHNOLOGY

Maximize advancements in DNA and technology to connect with our members and the public

We will continue to enhance our use of DNA advancements and technological developments to create enriching personalized experiences for our members and the public. We will invest resources and leverage partnerships with commercial and nonprofit firms to expand our online tools, services, and programs. Through enhanced data collection methods, we will more systematically identify constituent preferences and tailor our programs and content development accordingly.

In this year, we committed to a future plan for adding more programming—especially through Discovery Center interpretive space—on DNA and genetics. Interest in DNA commercial testing—and genealogy more broadly—has reached an all-time high. The test kit industry has burgeoned and is propelled by dueling, multi-million dollar television advertising campaigns and brand promotions. Increasingly, our work involves gathering and interpretation of scientific data. Our role as experts and educators in the uses of DNA testing in overall genealogical research has never been more important or in more demand. Today, Americans—and indeed people of many nations—are curious about likely nationalities and ethnicities in their genetic makeup and a huge marketplace has been created. From that enormous pool come many individuals who need assistance in interpreting or expanding upon test results, or who wish for a deeper experience with documentary evidence to supplement test results and their ethnographically predictive models. We have built a menu of consultative offerings, vend test kits, publish DNA findings, and actively service that growing marketplace.

During the year, we made many enhancements to our flagship website, AmericanAncestors.org, including updating the search experience and the site navigation and adding more than 8 million new searchable names to the site. We continued to invest in enhancing the user experience by improving database search features to provide an easier-to-use and more industry-standard search experience. Of particular note, we introduced database specific search pages. Now, every database has a page that presents only the relevant fields for the data in that database. These new pages also include the database description, search tips, sample images, and citation information. We also introduced a new menu system on AmericanAncestors.org, expanding the main navigation menu from four words to seven (adding Library, Events, and News), and we introduced expanded, detailed directory-style drop-down menus. The purpose of the new menus is to showcase the large amount of content on our website. The new menus also help organize the content into logical groupings, making navigation an easier task, particularly for those new to the website. The new menus also improve our mobile experience. More than 20% of our new traffic takes place over tablets and smartphones, so the new menus are important tools that help make exploration of the website easier. Since implementation, the menus have contributed to more sessions overall, as more people are using the menus to discover more content on our website than ever before. On a year-over-year basis, unique users of the site increased by 29%, and we exceeded twenty-one million page views, a 13% increase in year over year.

In fiscal year 2018, we also launched two new companion websites. The first was JewishHeritageCenter.org to showcase the work of the Wyner Family Jewish Heritage Center at New England Historic Genealogical Society as a resource for exploring and preserving the histories of Jewish families and institutions in New England and beyond. Mayflower.AmericanAncestors.org was launched as the online portal to our leading resources for Pilgrim research. The website shines a light on the lives of the Pilgrims, most notably in the form of passenger biographies from Robert Charles Anderson’s seminal works. Visitors can filter the list of passengers and crew in several ways, including by who left descendants, who died, and who returned to Europe. They can also view a gallery of present-day descendants. Our site launch was covered by hundreds of media outlets around the globe, including the BBC, NPR, the Boston Globe, and the Los Angeles Times.
SCHOLARSHIP

Advance our position as the leader in scholarly excellence in family history

We will produce major genealogical and historical research studies and provide access to authoritative resources for the pursuit of family and local history. We will support the work of genealogists, scholars, and those with a burgeoning interest in family history by increasing awareness of the importance of our deep, broad, and growing collections. Further, to promote the relevance of genealogy to the broader study of history, we will foster a collaborative spirit among genealogists, historians, and other historical institutions, both commercial and nonprofit.

We advanced our position as the leader in scholarly excellence in family history during the year through important content collaborations and publishing activities. In addition to our periodicals—American Ancestors, the Register, and Mayflower Descendant—we published twenty books, including Early Vermont Settlers; three compilations of our Research, Writing, and Records Portable Genealogist quick-reference guides; and six Newbury Street Press titles: The Metcalf and Small Families: Some Descendants of Michael Metcalf of Dedham, Massachusetts, and Edward Small of Kittery, Maine; Ancestors and Descendants of Lester Lowry Mays and Peggy Pitman; An American Family: Four Centuries of Labor, Love, and Reward—A Story of the Davis Family; A Family Becoming American, Volume 5: McHardy, Montgomery, Trounson, Williams; A Family Becoming American, Volume 6: Polter, Urban, Wisgin, Steinert; and Ancestors and Descendants of Robert Alfred Sands and Kate Van Volkenburgh: Enduring Relations. In addition to publishing scholarship in book form, we developed key new online content including completing the “Silver Book” series, Mayflower Families Through Five Generations, which brings this valuable research online for the first time. In the new fiscal year, Robert Charles Anderson’s long-awaited Puritan Pedigrees: The Deep Roots of the Great Migration was published to universal acclaim and strong sales.

CONCLUSION

These and a host of other accomplishments made this period truly outstanding—one of the very best years of exceptional progress in our long history. And, today, we stand poised to greatly enhance our headquarters, programs, outreach, and content with a dynamic expansion plan—just as we celebrate the historic milestones of our 175th anniversary and the Pilgrim Quadricentennial in 2020.

Respectfully submitted,
D. Brenton Simons
President and CEO
Our expanding campus

Our headquarters expansion—the Cornerstone Project—is a momentous occasion in the history of our institution as we embark to create a national visitor destination that enhances the range of personalized family history services that we offer so we can better serve members across the country as well as reach out to a broader audience and local visitors.

We strive to be a center where members and visitors can learn about family history, not only through books and charts, but by participating in immersive, interactive, and technology-driven exhibitions that engage visitors of all ages and backgrounds.

The first major step in carrying out our vision to serve our growing constituency and the next generation of family historians took place in late 2012 when we agreed to purchase the four-story 1874 brownstone next door at 97 Newbury Street. After acquiring the building with funds raised during the final stages of our capital campaign, we launched the Cornerstone Project, setting in motion a multi-year program to carefully study, plan, fundraise, and then, in due course, strategically renovate and expand our facilities.

Over the past fiscal year, several major developments occurred in the Cornerstone Project:
Member Tabitha King committed $1.25 million to support the Cornerstone Project and its educational programming to bring the lessons and values of family history research to students and people across the country.

This incredible generosity coincided with our successful negotiation to occupy the 97 Newbury Street building at the end of 2018, four years ahead of schedule. We will use the building for office and meeting space until full Cornerstone Project renovations begin in 2021.

These key developments follow on the extraordinary support of our Trustee, Thomas Bailey Hagen, who made a lead Cornerstone Project gift of $3 million in the spring of 2017. His contribution allowed us to engage renowned architectural firm Schwartz/Silver in working with us to draft a master plan that thoughtfully layouts the blueprint for renovating and expanding our complex in a manner that creates compelling experiences—in person and virtually. During this planning period, we will continue a process with leading consultants to ensure a vibrant and engaging family history experience delivered with a sustainable financial model.

We are also in discussions with retail partners to create a signature museum store destination that will offer unique gifts and products that celebrate families, honor our nation’s history, and will be cherished for generations.

In the fullness of time, the Cornerstone Project will include an expanded visitor center; food service; a destination retail experience on the first floor of our headquarters; a learning center to expand programs—in person and online—to members, young people, and diverse communities near and far; a tech-oriented interpretive center with museum installations; and collaborative workspaces to allow our world-renowned experts to provide consultations, conduct research, and produce vital, award-winning scholarship to advance the study of family history.

Council of the Corporation 2019–2020
In September 1620, 102 passengers—men, women, and children—and a crew of approximately 30 people left England aboard the Mayflower to seek freedom to practice their religion and opportunity in the New World.

After a harrowing sixty-six day voyage across the Atlantic, the Mayflower arrived in Cape Cod; by December 1620, the passengers planted the first permanent settlement of New England in Plymouth and laid the foundation for America.

The Mayflower passengers did not, of course, land in a place devoid of people or culture. They arrived in the Wampanoag Nation.

By commemorating the landing of the Mayflower, we honor the story of the Pilgrims and the native Wampanoag people. Their stories, collectively and individually, embody the triumphs and tragedies of life in early New England, and in the country itself.

From the Mayflower's small group of “Saints”—those seeking the free exercise of their religious beliefs—and “Strangers”—those who sought a better economic future—came a founding document that would be an inspiration for the Constitution of the United States of America. Upon landing in the New World, the Pilgrims authored the Mayflower Compact, an agreement which created a “civil body politic” and established a society to be governed by “just and equal laws.”

The legacy of the Mayflower can also be seen in the growth and expansion of the country. While nearly half of the 102 Mayflower passengers who arrived on the shores of Massachusetts died during the first winter, twenty-six families of passengers are known to have left descendants.

Currently, it is estimated that some 35 million people can trace their ancestry back to the Mayflower.

Here at American Ancestors and New England Historic Genealogical Society—the first genealogical organization in the world—we serve as the nation’s collective memory for family history. We bring together a broad and diverse audience seeking to understand the past by educating, inspiring, and connecting people through our scholarship, collections, and expertise.

As we commemorate the landing of the Mayflower—an event of national and international significance—we will engage people in a series of programs, publications, exhibitions, and tours that will touch on the key themes of exploration, innovation, religious freedom, self-governance, immigration, and Thanksgiving as we honor and learn from the enduring legacies of the Pilgrims and the Wampanoag.

Join us to explore your heritage, to understand your family’s unique place in history, and to be a part of the Mayflower story.

OUR COMMEMORATION ACTIVITIES

In the fall of 2017, we launched an online portal called Mayflower. AmericanAncestors.org that provides biographical and genealogical sketches for each Mayflower passenger, highlights our 2020 commemoration activities, and links to a variety of resources for early New England research. The website also hosts the largest online gallery of Mayflower descendants in the world. Thousands of individuals from all fifty states and from across the globe—Australia to Hungary—have added their pictures to our interactive map and expressed what being a Mayflower descendant means to them. We will continue to add new scholarship, features, and experiences on the website through the year 2020.

To help aid more people discover their Mayflower connections, through a partnership with the General Society of Mayflower Descendants (GSMD), in the summer of 2018 we launched the largest online database of authenticated Mayflower genealogies: Mayflower Families Fifth Generation Descendants, 1700-1880. This database is a result of a collaboration between NEHGS and GSMD announced in July 2017. Through that agreement, GSMD made its “Silver Books” resource available to NEHGS for digitization and indexing. Known by that name because of their distinctive silver covers, the Mayflower Families Through Five Generations series meticulously documents the first five generations of Pilgrim descendants. This new online database encompasses authenticated information on more than 7,300 families—more than 59,450 people—in the fifth generation of 50 of the 51 Mayflower passengers known to have descendants.

As the international leader of scholarship, programs, and exhibitions for the commemorations of the 400th anniversary of the landing of the Mayflower, we published the first, definitive guide to the 2020 anniversary in a special issue of American Ancestors magazine. In the issue, we provide comprehensive information about heritage tours, programs, research resources, and descriptions of the contributions from organizations in the United States, Wampanoag Nation, United Kingdom, and the Netherlands. Featured articles include Wampanoag perspectives on colonization, Jewish influences on Pilgrim thought, understanding the Pilgrims through their home libraries and artifacts, and a reader’s pilgrimage back to his ancestor’s baptismal church. Our NEHGS resources are detailed, including our pioneering Mayflower portal, new and classic publications, and our guide to tracing Mayflower descent.

In spring 2018, we hosted a ground-breaking exhibition: “Our” Story: 400 Years of Wampanoag History, an essential educational resource for telling an often-omitted part of early American history. Amongst other key aspects of Wampanoag history, visitors learned of the kidnappings and enslavement of Wampanoag people by Europeans in the years prior to 1620, the messenger runners who carried news throughout the nation, and some of the devastating effects of the European-brought plague that wiped out up to 90% of the Wampanoag people in a two year span.

Myriad new scholarship is also emerging from our commemorations. In winter 2018, we published Puritan Pedigrees: The Deep Roots of the Great Migration to New England by Robert Charles.
Anderson; three new research compendia are also forthcoming in the Great Migration Study Project: The Mayflower Migration, The East Anglia Migration, and The West Country Migration.

We are also continuing our work on Mayflower Descendant: A Journal of Pilgrim Genealogy & History. We publish this highly respected scholarly journal twice a year with a winter and a summer issue. Edited by Christopher Challender Child, it is the preeminent resource leading researchers to Mayflower families and related genealogies, their origins in England and their lives and places of residence in America.

In addition, we are partnering with American colonial historians, the Mashpee Wampanoag, and the Colonial Society of Massachusetts to publish a new annotated edition of William Bradford’s Of Plimmoth Plantation. Other projects include The Mayflower 500: Mayflower Descents of 500 Notable Americans by Gary Boyd Roberts. This book will include Mayflower lineages for many well-known Americans across four centuries. Descendants include Presidents of the United States, First Ladies, politicians, diplomats, literary figures, inventors, entrepreneurs and business people, actors, and others.

We are also collaborating with oral historians to collect and publish interviews with Mayflower descendants on the impact of discovering their ancestry and perspectives on the 400th-anniversary commemorations.

A key component of our 400th-anniversary programs is heritage tours. In August 2018, Robert Charles Anderson led a tour to Scrooby Manor and environs where participants followed the paths of William Bradford, William Brewster, and others in the important years leading up to the decision to leave England. The second tour in the series will be a 2019 visit to the Netherlands, where we will explore Leiden, Delft, and Amsterdam to gain an understanding of Pilgrim life before the voyage to the New World. The third tour of the series will bring us to the south of England to see Plymouth, Southampton, London, Sandwich, and Canterbury to illuminate the moments before the launch of the Mayflower and the journey that would change the world.

In 2020, our experts will also lead two exclusive three-day visits to historic sites in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts associated with the Pilgrims, including stops in Plymouth, Provincetown, Boston, Duxbury, and elsewhere as we explore behind-the-scenes at locations that are foundational to American history and genealogy.

We are proud to hold leadership positions in the national and international planning and execution of commemoration activities for 2020. Brenton Simons serves on the Board of Directors of Plymouth 400, the lead organization charged with 400th-anniversary events; Ryan Woods serves on the Development Committee for Plymouth 400; American Ancestors and NEHGS is an institutional leader on the commission created by the Governor of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts; Ginevra Morse is the chair of the American Ancestors and NEHGS 2020 Committee, and many other NEHGS staff members are participating with key partners to make 2020 a success.
The database team at American Ancestors and New England Historic Genealogical Society thanks its partners and volunteers who have made these additions and updates possible. Our partners include Shauna C. Anderson Young, Susan Easton Black, and Ruth Ellen Maness, FamilySearch, the Massachusetts Supreme Judicial Court Archives, John Sterling, Scott Andrew Bartley, Alicia Crane Williams, Helen Schatvet Ullmann, and the Roman Catholic Archdiocese of Boston.

- Addition of the database description and citation to the image and transcript pages
- Ability to print the search results page
- A new search option, Category Search, which allows a user to search everything in a particular category (such as Vital Records). This search is a best-fit search, which should allow a greater flexibility in the search results found.
- A new search option, Database Search, which allows a user to search everything in a particular database using a best-fit search. Improved database-specific Search Tips should also make this search easier for users.
- Search results improvements—sliders to refine your search and a cut-off bar which separates more relevant and less relevant results in our new best-fit searches
- New Record Display page displays a thumbnail of the image and the transcript next to each other, and gives options such as viewing the image or viewing other records on the page
The Georgetown University 272 Memory Project (GU272)

This year, American Ancestors and New England Historic Genealogical Society will launch a unique and exciting new digital family history project: an online research portal containing information about the approximately 272 enslaved people who were sold in 1838 by the Georgetown University’s Jesuit administrators. Our GU272 Memory Project will be a unique resource for African American family history—and will present the first compiled online data for the GU272 and their descendants. The two main components of the site will be a database and a collection of oral histories.

This initiative is the result of our partnership with the Georgetown Memory Project (GMP), a nonprofit organization founded by friends, allies, and alumni of Georgetown University.

Descendants of the GU272 DATABASE

The cornerstone of the portal will be a database created from the carefully documented genealogical work of the Georgetown Memory Project. The information will be grouped in volumes, with one for each GU272 family. We expect to launch the database with over forty-nine GU272 families and add more over time. The data will be provided in two ways:

- An indexed Register-style report for each GU272 family will present all known births, marriages, and deaths.
- Source records for every individual in the database will be digitized and indexed, and presented in its own searchable volume.

The years covered in the database will range from the early 1800s through the late 1900s. To protect privacy, only individuals born before 1919 will be included.

ORAL HISTORIES: MEMORIES OF MARINGOUIN AND BEYOND

While data tells an important part of the GU272 story, facts alone cannot capture the human experience. The new website will feature an online gallery of oral histories by GU272 descendants. More than thirty descendants in Louisiana, Maryland, and California have already been interviewed, and more sessions are planned. Most of the interviewees are 70 years or older, and have only recently learned through news stories about their ancestral connections to the GU272.

In an average ninety-minute interview descendants are asked to discuss different aspects of their lives, from birth to the present. People often discuss their upbringing, relatives, and family customs and traditions. Many share reflections on their professional careers, hardships they faced, and personal relationships, especially with their children.

We are eager to share what we have learned about the GU272 and their descendants; we feel this compelling story should be known to Americans of all backgrounds. Please join us on this journey.

— Claire Vail and Don LeClair
Research and writing has commenced on a large project for the Society of the Cincinnati in the State of Connecticut in which, fully cited genealogical and biographical sketches of the 686 men noted as qualified propositi for membership in the Society of the Cincinnati in the State of Connecticut by the Society’s Committee on Pretensions. Of the 686 propositi noted as qualified for membership, 250 were Original Members, 193 died in service, 189 qualify under the Rule of 1854, 26 were deranged by a Congressional-mandated reorganization, 17 engaged in at least three campaigns of the war, 10 were permanently incapacitated, and one qualifies under the provision for serving to the end of the war in 1783. This project is scheduled for completion in approximately three years.

GENERAL SOCIETY OF COLONIAL WARS PARTNERS WITH NEHGS RESEARCH SERVICES

Beginning in October 2017, a new agreement with the General Society of Colonial Wars and the NEHGS Research Services team was reached, in which researchers were commissioned to perform the final review of new and supplemental applications submitted by Colonial Wars state societies. This arrangement ensured that Colonial Wars membership had a clear process, uniform methods of verification, and was based on the rigorous scholarly standards inherent to NEHGS. NEHGS reviews each new and supplemental application for completeness and adherence to the standards of eligibility and documentation established by the General Society. If an application has gaps or raises questions, the state society will be notified directly by NEHGS of the specific issues(s) that may require corrective action. NEHGS will not perform the research to fill those gaps or correct the issues. Rather, the state society can work directly with the candidate to quickly and effectively fix any problems. NEHGS will complete reviews within 30 days of receipt. After almost a year of providing this service to the valued members and prospective members at GSCW, the Research Services team is happy to report that we have received more than 200 applications from prospective and current members and have an impressive 75%+ approval rate. Here at NEHGS we are pleased that our researchers have been entrusted with this important responsibility and look forward to further strengthening our relationship with the Society of Colonial Wars.
In the news

Headlines in the media during the past year brought news of the expertise and scholarship of American Ancestors and New England Historic Genealogical Society to readers around the world.

Our work in bringing new and innovative resources online for researching Mayflower genealogies generated widespread news stories in newspapers, magazines, radio, and TV.

And our discovery that Meghan Markle was a direct descendant of royalty—and a cousin of her groom-to-be Prince Harry—led to widespread coverage in media leading up to the Royal Wedding in May. The world’s increasing curiosity about the analysis of DNA and the evidence it offers family historians for genealogical research brought journalists to our headquarters and into deep conversations with our genealogists.

In many ways American Ancestors and NEHGS is at the forefront of delivery of information that impacts the world of genealogy—and society as a whole. Today’s sophisticated media industry recognizes this and is anxious to report it.
Publications

In addition to four issues of American Ancestors magazine, four issues of the Register, and two issues of Mayflower Descendant, we published seventeen new books during the course of fiscal year 2018.

Vita Brevis

Vita Brevis is NEHGS's blog, and is designed to offer the reader short essays as well as news of the greater genealogical community. It includes posts on research methods—applicable to a variety of genealogical subjects—as well as results. During the blog’s five years of publication, these posts have become a resource for the genealogical researcher to explore.

Contributors to Vita Brevis include most of our genealogists, as well as authors like Robert Charles Anderson, FASG (the Great Migration series, Puritan Pedigrees), and Bill Griffeth (The Stranger in My Genes). Subject matter ranges from medieval European genealogical research to the modern day, hopscotching from the voyage of the Mayflower to twentieth-century immigration through Ellis Island. While the blog occasionally engages with breaking news, for the most part contributors tell a story—sometimes on themselves—as they pose questions and work out a way to plausible answers. Learning how to question assumptions—their own or those of earlier researchers—helps Vita Brevis bloggers break through intractable “brick walls”; often, too, the process is as engaging as the results can be pleasing.

With almost two million page views in the life of the blog (launched in January 2014), Vita Brevis has become an important part of its readers’ daily routine. A reader’s comment on a recent post can stand for many such responses: “Thank you … for finding and telling the stories of your family’s heroes. Wonderful read—you had me on the edge of my seat.”

The future of American Ancestors and New England Historic Genealogical Society as a national center for family history research rests upon public engagement: educating, inspiring and connecting new audiences to their family stories and fulfilling our mission as America’s founding genealogical society.

In 2018, American Ancestors and NEHGS made crucial steps toward its future by forming an Exhibition Committee to develop interactive exhibits that integrate themes from art, history, and genealogy and that will engage visitors of all ages and backgrounds. A collaborative effort between the Wyner Family Jewish Heritage Center, R. Stanton Avery Special Collections, the Education team, and Fine Art, the committee is responsible for the identification of subjects and stories that we are uniquely poised to share. Our exhibits will tell the stories of the American and human experience—from immigration to westward expansion; material expressions of love, grief, and family connection; from Irish to Italian to Jewish to African American to Native American stories. Each of these exhibits aims to transport visitors, deepen their sense of identity, and provide a greater understanding of their family’s role in human history.

In just the first year of its stewardship, the committee launched several exhibits, each bringing in hundreds of new visitors to our headquarters. Some exhibitions from the last year and a look ahead:

APRIL–MAY 2018: “OUR” STORY: 400 YEARS OF WAMPANOAG HISTORY

In spring of 2018, American Ancestors and NEHGS hosted the multi-media, traveling exhibit “Our” Story: 400 Years of Wampanoag History, which illuminates America’s earliest beginnings from the Wampanoag perspective—a voice largely silenced in the colonial narrative. The Wampanoag have lived in southeastern Massachusetts for more than 12,000 years and were the first tribe encountered by the passengers of the Mayflower. The exhibit begins with the kidnapping and enslavement of 27 Wampanoag men—including Tisquantum (later known as Squanto), the only captive to return home. Its final chapter discusses the brutal legacy of colonization, the effects of which are still felt today. “Our” Story: 400 Years of Wampanoag History was conceptualized, researched, and produced by SmokeSygnals Marketing and Communications and The Indian Spiritual and Cultural Training Council Inc.

AUGUST–NOVEMBER 2018:
MEMORIALS AND MOURNING:
MATERIAL EXPRESSIONS OF GRIEF

This exhibit focused on the artifacts that often accompany the act of mourning. With emphasis on the the eighteenth to twentieth centuries, the featured items from our collection displayed how individuals, families, and communities mourned and memorialized the loss of loved ones. Artifacts included letters of condolence, coffin plates, photographs, séance communications, and even mourning jewelry. Each object has its unique place in history, location, and attribution, yet they all serve the same purpose: to both memorialize and mourn.

APRIL 2019–DECEMBER 2020:
THE ORIGINS AND LEGACY OF THE MAYFLOWER

The story of the Mayflower is the quintessential American story—one that resonates across four centuries with themes of democracy, religious freedom, and heritage. The 102 passengers, known today as the Pilgrims, set sail from Plymouth, England, on September 6, 1620, bound for Virginia. After 66 days aboard one wooden ship they arrived on the shores of Cape Cod—and the rest is history. While not the first group of European settlers to arrive on the shores of America (St. Augustine, 1565; Jamestown, 1607; Popham, Maine, 1607), the Mayflower landing has become synonymous with the founding of America. But, who were these Pilgrims, what motivated their departure from England, and why has their story been so ensconced in our nation’s history? This exhibit seeks to explore the origins of the Mayflower migration and its lasting legacy as expressed through anniversary commemorations, American mythos, and modern-day descendants.

THE HISTORY OF WAMPUM BELTS

From precolonial to contemporary times, wampum belts have been an integral part of the living, indigenous traditions that continue to be used for ceremonial purposes, adornment, and to record or reflect specific events and agreements. Curated by SmokeSygnals, a native owned communications company based out of Mashpee, Massachusetts, this interactive display explores the significance of wampum belts throughout history and discusses the ongoing search for the wampum belt of Metacom, a.k.a. King Philip, taken as a spoil of war when the Wampanoag leader was assassinated on August 12, 1676.
NEHGS Heritage Tours provide our constituents and their friends and families with educational opportunities that illuminate the lives of our ancestors through exclusive, behind-the-scenes experiences. Led by our experts including Curator of Special Collections Curt DiCamillo or Director of the Great Migration Study Project Robert Charles Anderson, as well as other specialists, each tour explores the art, architecture, history, and landscape of our forbearers.

2018 TOURS

Director of the Great Migration Study Project Robert Charles Anderson led a group of loyal fans to England in August on the first of the Pilgrim Pathways programs, Pilgrim Roots of the Great Migration, traveling to the English homes of William Brewster and William Bradford and beyond. Each of the tours offered the expert scholarship of NEHGS leaders and local guides, dynamic learning experiences, interesting travel companions, behind-the-scenes access and luxury travel. All of which might explain why NEHGS Heritage Tours has a long list of repeat travelers.

The Jewish Heritage Center had an important year in 2018, bookended by two significant events. In November 2017, after becoming the custodian in perpetuity of the American Jewish Historical Society-New England Archive, New England Historic Genealogical Society created the Jewish Heritage Center at NEHGS, with the archive as its cornerstone. A year later, the Center was renamed the Wyner Family Jewish Heritage Center (JHC) at NEHGS, in recognition of a cornerstone gift and the longstanding commitment of Justin “Jerry” and Genevieve Wyner.

NEHGS held a gala dinner in October in Boston to honor the Wyners and announce the JHC’s new name. At the event, titled “’L’dor Vdor” (Hebrew for “from generation to generation”), Brenton Simons thanked the Wyners for their tireless commitment to preserving the JHC’s archival collections—and for making a lead gift to endow the Center. He remarked: “[Jerry and Genevieve’s] visionary work and profound generosity has transformed this collection: they have founded an even larger Center that will, in addition to digitizing archives, take important new strides in educational programming and will engage with the community in meaningful ways. They have ensured that this work will continue from generation to generation.”

Also speaking at the event were Jonathan Sarna, the Joseph H. & Belle R. Braun Professor of American Jewish History at Brandeis University; Rachel King, the new director of the Center; and Rabbi Elaine Zecher of Temple Israel Boston, who presented the Wyners with the first annual Tzedakah Award. Co-chaired by the Wyners’ three sons and their wives, the event was a great success, drawing 130 people and raising more than $650,000.

PROGRAM HIGHLIGHTS

A number of other events over the course of the year met the dual goals of showcasing JHC collections and partnering with other organizations to raise visibility and audiences around New England. These included a presentation by Marty Brounstein in June about his book Two Among the Righteous Few: A Story of Courage in the Holocaust. Also in June, the Center partnered with the Jewish Arts Collaborative to present a program with Michael Twitty, award-winning food writer, independent scholar, and culinary historian. In October, the Center co-hosted a program at the historic Adams Street Shul in Newton, Massachusetts, featuring Hugh Baver discussing “The Évian Conference and the Creation of a Jewish Legacy in the Dominican Republic.”

Also in the fall, the Center held an event with renowned author Anita Diamant in conjunction with an exhibit entitled Memorials and Mourning, which displayed items from the Center and the NEHGS R. Stanton Avery Special Collections. Diamant discussed her book Saying Kaddish, exploring Judaism’s approach to death. And in November, the Center co-hosted a well-attended Archives Shabbat program with Jewish Arts Collaborative, which combined a lively program about Yiddish music with a Shabbat dinner at NEHGS, and shared the Center’s archival materials about Jewish music and musicians.

COLLECTIONS AND ARCHIVES HIGHLIGHTS

The Center expanded its collections significantly over the year, enhancing a growing picture of Jewish life in New England and beyond. It accessioned several new collections, including the records of the Adams Street Shul in Newton, Massachusetts; the Jews of Tachau, Czechoslovakia Records; Rabbi Icik Eliezer Benkovitz Papers; and the papers of playwright and clothing designer Lee Roscoe. In summer 2018, the Center also acquired the papers of Bernie Margolis, former head of the Boston Public Library and State Librarian of New York. Friends and associates of Margolis concurrently launched the Bernard Margolis Fund, to ensure preservation of the collection.

Among the collections processed were the Dewey Stone Papers Addendum, Elihu David Stone Papers Addendum, and the Jewish Historical Society of Western Massachusetts Records.

A focal activity of the Center throughout 2018 was the digitization of the Hebrew Immigrant Aid Society (HIAS)–Boston Port records, a project begun in 2016 to make this vital collection as accessible as possible. Of 246 boxes, the Center has digitized nearly 25,000 documents so far. Alongside the collection’s historical importance to scholars and family researchers, the essential role HIAS continues to play in bringing immigrants to safety was underscored in October by the tragic events at the Tree of Life synagogue in Squirrel Hill, Pennsylvania.

STAFF

As mentioned, Rachel King joined the Center as the new director in fall 2018. With a background in nonprofit administration, Rachel will oversee management of the Center, and focus on fundraising and strategic planning efforts to lead the Center into its next phase. Longtime staff member Stephanie Call was promoted to Associate Director of Archives and Education, and will lead outreach and education efforts to bring the work of the Center to the wider Jewish community. In September 2017, Kelsey Sawyer was promoted to Reference and Photograph Archivist, and Lindsay Sprechman was promoted to Collections Archivist. Brittany Contratto joined the staff as Digital Projects Archivist in July 2018, bringing expertise in digital archives and social media.
2018 Annual Family History Benefit Dinner
honoring David McCullough

On April 27, 2018, more than 265 guests joined us at the Fairmont Copley Plaza hotel for the Family History Benefit Dinner honoring author and NEHGS honorary member David McCullough with our Lifetime Achievement Award in History and Biography.

Brenton Simons presented McCullough with an updated genealogy compiled by NEHGS Chief Genealogist David Allen Lambert; the original genealogy was presented at our benefit dinner in 1995. Additional genealogical records provided fascinating family discoveries. McCullough is related to Henry Wadsworth Longfellow, Harriet Beecher Stowe, Emily Dickinson, Henry Adams, Ernest Hemingway, John Steinbeck, Tennessee Williams, and Ken Burns. McCullough is also related to Alice Hathaway Lee and Edith Kermit Carrow (first and second wives to Theodore Roosevelt) and Orville and Wilbur Wright—who appear in his books. We were particularly excited to learn that McCullough is related to the founder of NEHGS Lemuel Shattuck. Author and 2017 NEHGS Lifetime Achievement Award Honoree Stacy Schiff led an engaging conversation with McCullough on a wide range of topics, including his influences, inspiration, and family history.

American book launch for
The Duke of Rutland and Emma Ellis

We were honored to host an event celebrating the American book launch of Resolution: Two Brothers. A Nation in Crisis. A World at War. This story of two aristocratic brothers in Georgian England is set against the backdrop of the American Revolution. The co-authors, David Rutland, 11th Duke of Rutland, of Leicestershire, England, and Emma Ellis signed copies of the book following a reading and tea party at our Back Bay headquarters.

2018 Summer Dinner featuring Chef Barbara Lynch

On July 26, 2018, more than 100 guests joined us at the St. Botolph Club for the NEHGS Summer Dinner, featuring chef, restaurateur, and author Barbara Lynch.

Barbara Lynch began her career at the St. Botolph Club under Chef Mario Bonello. Since then, Barbara has opened seven highly esteemed restaurants in the Boston area: No. 9 Park, B&G Oysters, The Butcher Shop, Stir, Drink, Sportello, and Menton. She is also a Chef Collaborator on the Eataly Boston team. She has won numerous awards and in 2017 was named to the TIME 100, Time magazine’s annual list of the world’s most influential people.

Barbara captivated the audience with a reading from her memoir before taking part in a fascinating, vigorous, and at times uproarious Q&A session. She was then presented with an NEHGS Life Membership and gift. The evening closed with a most enjoyable and well-attended book signing.

The dinner’s Gold Benefactors were Nancy and John Webster. Silver Benefactors were Judith Avery, Holly and David Bruce, Stephen H. Case, and Welch & Forbes LLC. Benefactors were Gerry and MaryLee Halpin, Beverly and Lyman Hamilton, Deborah Wentworth Lansing, Jo Anne C. Makely, Nancy S. Maulsby, Elizabeth and George Passela, and Jonathan B. 2018 Fall Family History Benefit Dinner honoring historian David Hackett Fischer

On October 25, 2018, more than 100 guests joined us at the Four Seasons for the NEHGS Fall Family History Benefit Dinner honoring Pulitzer Prize-winning historian and best-selling author David Hackett Fischer with our Lifetime Achievement Award.

David Hackett Fischer is one of the leading forces in the study of American history today. He is University Professor and Warren Professor of History Emeritus at Brandeis University in Massachusetts, where he has been on the faculty for more than fifty years. The distinguished recipient of many prizes and awards for both teaching and writing, he is the author of some fifteen works, including Washington’s Crossing, Paul Revere’s Ride, Albion’s Seed: Four British Folkways in America, and Champlain’s Dream.

The evening featured a discussion with Fischer, moderated by NEHGS Councilor Bill Griffeth, co-anchor of CNBC’s Nightly Business Report and author of the award-winning memoir The Stranger in my Genes. Fischer shared stories on writing his books, offered perspectives on important trends in American history, and provided his views on the role of genealogy in the field of history.

During the evening, Brantley Carter Bolling Knowles, President of The Colonial Dames of America, and David Martin Trebing, Governor General of the General Society of Colonial Wars, were also honored for outstanding leadership in historic preservation and genealogy.

The dinner’s Silver Benefactors were Nancy and John Webster. Benefactors were Stephen H. Case, Howard E. Cox, Nancy S. Maulsby, Mark Kimball Nichols, and Welch & Forbes LLC.

Students from the Atrium School visit for a program called “Archivist for a Day.”
Open Newbury

In 2018, American Ancestors and New England Historic Genealogical Society was once again an active participant in the City of Boston’s Open Newbury Street program. Held three Sundays in July, August, and September, the busy thoroughfare is closed to vehicular traffic and transformed into a festive promenade featuring local musicians, food trucks, sidewalk sales, and more. Attracting students, families, tourists, and Bostonians alike, each event brings thousands of visitors to our tent outside 99-101 Newbury Street and affords us an incredible opportunity to engage a different audience and inspire a new generation of family historians. In addition to family-themed activities, raffles, and consultations, our most popular activity has been our “Map of Ancestors” in which individuals are encouraged to place a pin on a world map showing their ancestral homelands. The enthusiasm, pleasure, and pride from individuals and families who participate in the activity is palpable and demonstrates a shared, human interest in the past, family, and heritage.
Free Fun Friday

Free Fun Fridays, sponsored by the generous support of the Highland Street Foundation, offer visitors no-cost admission to some of the most treasured cultural venues across the Commonwealth of Massachusetts. Each Friday from June through August, museums, libraries, and historical sites open their doors to families and people of ages.

Since 2010, American Ancestors and New England Historic Genealogical Society has participated in the Free Fun Fridays program. Each year the number of visitors, breadth of activities, and general excitement has grown exponentially. On August 17, 2018, we had 465 visitors to our library and archives (100 more than the previous year). NEHGS staff and volunteers from the Jewish Genealogical Society of Greater Boston provided 151 one-on-one consultations (approximately 38 hours worth of genealogical help); children of all ages participated in genealogical games, activities, and demonstrations; and many attended introductory workshops in conducting genealogical research. All visitors—no matter their background, age, or level of experience—left with a new passion for family history.
The Social Register visits NEHGS

American Ancestors and New England Historic Genealogical Society was delighted to welcome Christopher R. Wolf, Chairman of the Social Register Association, and 140 guests to a cocktail party and exhibit at the NEHGS Newbury Street headquarters in October. SR members and NEHGS members enjoyed conversations and looked together at archival material illuminating the Social Register’s history. A fine time was had by all, culminating in expressions of anticipation for future gatherings.

Brenton Simons speaks at the Society of the Four Arts, Palm Beach, Florida

Brenton Simons, President and CEO of American Ancestors and New England Historic Genealogical Society was invited to speak at the Society of the Four Arts in Palm Beach, in association with the Florida Society of Colonial Wars, on January 14, 2019. The talk, titled “DNA & Genealogy: How it Has Captured our National Attention & Why This is Good for America” drew an audience of nearly 300 enthusiastic guests, all engaged and asking questions. Simons had the crowd mesmerized with genealogical and DNA details. After the lecture, many enjoyed a private reception hosted by the Society of Colonial Warriors - Florida. Ryan Woods speaks in Washington, DC, during Hereditary Society Week

On April 11, 2018, Ryan J. Woods, New England Historic Genealogical Society Senior Vice President and Chief Operating Officer, and Chairman of the Committee on Heraldry, gave a lecture during the Heritage Week 2018 in Washington, DC. An at-capacity crowd learned firsthand about the “Treasures of American Heraldry: A Rare Glimpse at the Originals Themselves.” Woods shared a rare in-person glimpse at two remarkable jewels of heraldry and genealogy which have not been seen outside of New England in over 360 years. The illustrated talk and demonstration included the Gore Roll Of Arms, the earliest known document depicting coats of arms in America, and the Promptuarium Armorum, a collection of sixteenth and seventeenth-century heraldic art from the College of Arms. This collection includes some 4,500 color coats and crests of English families; amongst them is one of the earliest examples of William Shakespeare’s coat of arms. The event was hosted by David Martin Trebing, Brantley Carter Bolling Knowles, President General, The Colonial Dames of America; and Peter Irving Channing Knowles, II, Registrar General, General Society of Colonial Wars.
The DiCamillo Rendez-Vous in New York City

On Thursday, January 17, 2019, we gathered at the Colony Club in New York City for a talk titled “The English Country House: Center of the Universe,” given by Curt DiCamillo, NEHGS Curator of Special Collections, and hosted by Nancy S. Maulsby, Chairman of the Board of Trustees. DiCamillo shared stories with a sold-out crowd about the discovery of oxygen, the invention of the game of badminton, and the birth of the United States, all of which happened at a historic English house. The event also served as a rendez-vous of past and future DiCamillo Tours participants. Following his talk, we visited Carlton Hobbs Exquisite British Antiques.

Curt DiCamillo, an internationally recognized authority on English country houses and the decorative arts joined NEHGS in 2016 and provides strategic direction and expert guidance for organizing and exhibiting NEHGS’s extensive collection of family history-related artifacts and fine arts.

The Legacy Society

Dr. Henry Bond led the way for hundreds of estate gifts since his bequest was received in 1859. The Legacy Society memorializes the past members of the Henry Bond Society whose thoughtful estate planning has resulted in generous contributions. NEHGS continues to grow and thrive as it has since 1845 thanks in large part to those who have ultimately made their final and most significant act of generosity. These investments into our future will ensure that family history is preserved, advanced, and made accessible for future generations of genealogists.

We are humbled and honored to recognize the following individuals, whose estates contributed $1,181,082 since September 1, 2017.

Why I Give

“I am honored to lead the Society of Colonial Wars, which has a rich tradition built over the last 125 years. Lineage societies like ours allow individuals to combine their passions—history, genealogy, historic preservation, restoration and commemoration—under an umbrella of genuine fellowship to celebrate unique periods in our American experience.

Like many of us, growing up I’d heard about various famous ancestors in the family tree—stories that were often little more than wishful thinking. Family members belonged to a number of lineage societies, so I joined several using documentation from years ago. As I became more active in these groups, my focus was always on celebrating the events of the period rather than my ancestors. My perspective evolved over time, as I realized the two are naturally intertwined: the period comes alive through the stories of families and individuals, whether they are presidents or farmers.

Over time, I had retained “professional” genealogists to research various aspects of my ancestry. I was usually disappointed with the results: something was always lacking in the information presented, because it didn’t include historical and biographical material. Not that every ancestor is a signer of the Declaration of Independence, of course, but every single person has a story to be told.

So, as I searched for someone to provide a comprehensive view of who these people were, I came across NEHGS. After my first introductory call with the Research Services team, I knew that NEHGS could do exactly what I wanted. I immediately joined as an Associate member so I could learn about NEHGS and support its programs—and also receive a valuable discount on research costs! I am truly amazed by the ability of the professional staff at NEHGS: they are not just genealogists—they’re also historians, sociologists, anthropologists, and, with the introduction of DNA research, geneticists.

I have many research projects currently underway at NEHGS, because the more I learn about my family, the more I want to know! I keep receiving new findings and revelations—some major and others minor—and all are interesting. For example, after taking a DNA test, I was contacted by the daughter of my father’s first cousin (whom I didn’t know). I was delighted to send her photos that my grandmother had kept of her as a child with her late mother, pictures she had never seen.

In another case, I knew little about my maternal grandmother’s family, so I asked NEHGS to help. I was fascinated to find that some of these ancestors were not only Huguenots who fled religious persecution, but one was a Filles du Roi. That information is now a catalyst for me to learn more about colonial Canada and the Huguenot migration (and to spend more time in provincial Quebec seeing where they lived, farmed, and worked).

I am now anticipating delving into the lives of some of my English ancestors. I already have my place reserved for the August 2018 Heritage Tour examining the “Pilgrim Roots of the Great Migration.”

The more I learn about my family, the more I want to know!”

—DAVID MARTIN TREBING

As we examine our heritage, making the past come alive is important. Family history is much more than assembled names, dates, and locations: it is the understanding of what our forebears experienced personally, politically, religiously, and socially. Whether ancestors arrived in 1607 or last week, each one made a critical contribution to the dynamic melting pot that is America. NEHGS is key to helping us navigate through the ages so we’ll not only know our individual past, we’ll understand it. By placing ourselves in the context of history, we will appreciate what we have, and the future will be brighter as we build upon that collective understanding of how we got here.”

David Martin Trebing, a Benefactor Member, became a Councilor in 2017 and a Trustee in 2019. He has been in the automobile industry for more than thirty years, and is the General Manager of External Affairs and Public Policy for the international manufacturer Daimler. Mr. Trebing is the immediate past Governor General of the General Society of Colonial Wars. He lives in Washington, D.C.
During Fiscal Year 2018, NEHGS received 3,770 gifts totaling $3,803,919 to support current operations.

Life Member,
Pamela Pescosolido

“I value American Ancestors and New England Historic Genealogical Society for the valuable resources they provide to all interested in genealogy and family history research. I became interested in genealogy through my mother, Linda Pescosolido, who has been working on our family lines for years and who us also a NEHGS supporter and former board member. I wish now that I had become interested in our family history while my grandparents were still alive; so many stories and memories are now forever lost.

Why a life membership? Genealogy, by its very nature, cannot be a momentary interest. With each exploration, more and more information arises, more trails to follow, more stories to explore. And the tools and data NEHGS provides keep improving and expanding all the time. It could truly take a lifetime to explore.”

Volunteers

It was another milestone year for the program, with 238 volunteers, interns, trustees, and councilors donating a record-breaking 25,576 hours. These hours were the equivalent of 12.5 staff years, providing a welcome supplement to the work of our employees. Volunteer activities ran the spectrum from processing special collections, assisting library patrons, cataloging acquisitions, conserving books, proofreading manuscripts, helping with used book sales, creating new databases, and scanning additions into digital collections.

We honor those volunteers with the highest number of years of continuous service, with thirty individuals in the cadre for ten or more years. Special recognition is given to volunteers with more than twenty years: Rene Dearborn (28 yr.), Esther Coke (27 yr.), Kathryn Smith Black (26 yr.), Helen Ullmann (24 yr.), and Sheila Thoman (23 yr.).
